42 PERISHED IN THE STORMS OF YESTERDAY

SWEPT THIS STATE AND WISCONSIN

MOST OF DEATHS WERE REPORTED FROM WISCONSIN

10 DEAD AT THORP, WIS., TWO NEAR THORP, ONE AT EVELETH, MINN.

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 22.—Forty-two persons perished in the storm which swept parts of Minnesota and Wisconsin Sunday, according to latest tabulations on the casualties. Most of the deaths were in northern Wisconsin. The list shows:

Ten dead at Thorp, Wis., nine near Amber, Wis., three at Owen, Wis., six at Sanborn, Wis., two near Thorp, Wis., one in Milwaukee, one in Mahomet, Minn., and one at Eveleth, Minn.

At Thorp, Wis., the dead were: Mr. and Mrs. Peter Magyja. Lydia Magyja. Vincent Magyja. Anton Larzinski. Beth Schmitzfranz. Rose Royenski. Sophie Graikowski. Marcia Kolyzarek. Harry Barry. Matt Kobylarczyk. At Eveleth, Minn.: Frank Melchert, 35. At Milwaukee, Wis.: Ralph Obermeier. At Sanborn, Wis.: Jacob Holma. John Hill. Mrs. John Hill. Victor Flanders. Willard Anderson. Elsie Mattson. At Mahtomedi, Minn.: Joe Richenberg. Near Amber: John Novabillsky and seven members of his family. Mrs. John Guardowsky. Near Owen: Mrs. Sam Thoreson. Infant son of Frank Weaver. George Norris. Mrs. George Norris and 8-year-old son.

REVISED LIST OF DEAD GIVEN

A revised list of dead in towns reads 11 dead at Thorp, Wis., and nine dead at Owen, the following names being added:

Two Hill children, northwest of Owen, Wis.

Two Donovan children, northwest of Owen.

In list of dead at Thorp 11 names were given but there should only be 10.

NOW BELIEVED 38 PERISHED

St. Paul, Sept. 22.—Storms in Minnesota and Wisconsin claimed at least 38 lives Sunday.

The death list likely will be added to with the restoration of demolished wire systems.

Most of the deaths occurred in Clark county, Wisconsin, where the wind demolished a number of homes.

MOTORBOAT CAPSIZED 2 MEN DROWNED

Waukesha, Wis., Sept. 22.—While on their way to the station to catch a train for home after a week-end visit at the Bergen cottage on Lake Muskego near here, Paul Mills, Milwaukee, and J. W. Harrison, Chicago, were drowned when the motor boat in which they were riding went down during the storm late yesterday. Their bodies have not been recovered.

LIST OF DEAD IS INCREASING

St. Paul, Sept. 22.—Further reports continue to add to the list of killed in storms, including these names:

J. W. Harrison, Chicago, drowned at Lake Muskego, Wis.

Paul Mills, Milwaukee, drowned at Lake Muskego, Wis.

Infant of Mrs. May Ash, Gilbert, Wis.

Mrs. J. Korkola, drowned in Leaf Lake.

HOT SOAP SCALDS A CROSBY LAD

Crosby, Sept. 22.—Frank, one-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Muhar, was scalded to death in West Crosby when he tipped a kettle of boiling soap over himself. He was buried in the Crosby cemetery.

MINISTER MAKES CONFESSION, SAYS HE KILLED WIFE

REV. LAWRENCE M. HIGHT ALSO ADMITS POISONING WILFORD
SWEETIN

AFTER ALL-NIGHT GRILLING HE SAID HE PUT ARSENIC IN WIFE'S COFFEE

(By United Press)
Mount Vernon, Ill., Sept. 22.—Rev. Lawrence M. Hight, middle-aged pastor of Ina, a village 10 miles south of here, confessed today to the poisoning of his wife and Wilford Sweetin, authorities announced.

After an all-night grilling Hight admitted placing arsenic in his wife's coffee. Later he admitted poisoning the water which he gave to Sweetin while he was ill.

Rev. Hight, circuit rider pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church for Ina and five surrounding towns, said he wanted to put his wife "out of her sufferings" and gave poison to Sweetin for the same reason.

He continued to deny that there was anything between himself and his victim's pretty widow.

He claimed to be temporarily out of his mind at the time.

Coroner Jess Reece, who started the investigation following the death of Mrs. Hight September 12, late Sunday received a telegram from Dr. W. D. McNally, Chicago, announcing that arsenic had been found in the organs of the exhumed body of Sweetin, who died July 28. McNally earlier had reported discovery of arsenic in the viscera of Mrs. Hight.

The pastor, arrested last Thursday and held without bond to the grand jury for the murder of his wife, was taken to the office of Sheriff Grant Holcombe, at 9:30 last night and questioned by Sheriff Grant and State's Attorney Frank Thompson.

Hight maintained his innocence throughout the night under the merciless cross-questioning. Finally, just before dawn today State's Attorney Thompson adopted a pitying attitude, expressing sympathy for the pastor's church and family and urged the "circuit rider" to get the guilt off his mind. This line of argument was kept up for more than an hour and then Rev. Hight wrote out a statement witnessed by the two officials confessing the murder of his wife.

It read:
"I hereby make the following statement, and this statement is made to State's Attorney Frank Thompson of my own free will and voluntarily, regardless of whether or not it may be used hereafter against me.

"While grief-stricken because of the illness of my wife, Anna Hight, I put arsenic in her coffee to relieve her of pain while Mrs. Lucy Lehr and my daughter Mildred were in the kitchen of my home at Ina, Ill., on September 10, 1924.

"My sole purpose was to relieve her of her pain in her dying moments.

(Signed) L. M. Hight."
Mrs. Hight had been taken ill the previous Saturday, September 6, after eating minced ham, according to Hight's earlier story.

HIGHT COLLAPSED IN JAIL TODAY

Mount Vernon, Ill., Sept. 22.—Lawrence M. Hight, 49, Methodist minister who confessed to poisoning his wife and a male member of his congregation "to put them out of their pain," collapsed in the county jail here today.

Fliers Arrive At San Diego Two Hours Ahead of Schedule

San Diego, Calif., Sept. 22.—The United States army round-the-world aviators arrived here at 10:33 a. m. today from Tucson, Ariz.

At San Diego they "crossed their trail" for the first time on the trip. All of the planes were given initial tryouts here and flew from here to Santa Monica, Calif., and Seattle, Wash., for the start of the flight.

Out of the east came the planes. While whistles roared and sirens shrieked, Lieut. Lowell Smith, Eric Nelson and Leigh Wade circled their giant ships and settled on Rockwell Field, North Island.

The fliers were greeted by small crowds, due to the fact that they arrived more than two hours ahead of schedule.

Smith, commander of the flight, was the first to touch the ground, with Nelson and Wade a second or two later.

Half an hour before an escort of 16 planes went east to meet the fliers. One of these shot home and ahead as a pathfinder. The other fifteen followed the returning heroes.

The parents of Lieut. Smith and the mother of Lieut. Harding arrived at the landing field five minutes ahead and were the first to greet the fliers.

LEFT TUCSON, ARIZ.,
AT 6:55 A. M. TODAY

Tucson, Ariz., Sept. 22.—Nearing the end of their globe-girdling journey, the United States army round-the-world fliers skimmed upward into the western sky at 6:55 a. m. today, bound for San Diego.

Despite the early hour several hundred military men and well-wishers were at the field when the airmen departed, sending them away with a cheer.

PASSED OVER MARICOPA, 8:40 A. M.

Maricopa, Ariz., Sept. 22.—The American round-the-world fliers passed over Maricopa at 8:40 a. m., mountain time. They were flying low. Maricopa is 90 miles from Tucson and 160 miles from Yuma, where the fliers will cross the Colorado river and enter California.

FLEW OVER YUMA, ARIZ.

Yuma, Ariz., Sept. 22.—The world fliers crossed over Yuma at 8:48 a. m. coast time. Ten miles from the city they flew over the Colorado river and entered Colorado, bound for San Diego.

TAMARACK HOTEL CONTRACT IS LET

Tamarack, Sept. 22.—A contract has been let to L. Johnson of Aitkin for construction of a new hotel in Tamarack. Mrs. Marie Koplen of Tamarack is the owner. The building will be completed within two months.

MANCHURIANS IN GENERAL DRIVE ON PEKIN, CHINA

MARSHAL CHANG TSO LIN CONTINUES DRIVE BEYOND GREAT WALL

CRACK CAVALRY ROUTS TWO PEKIN BRIGADES IN SHARP FIGHTING

(By United Press)
Osaka, Japan, Sept. 20.—Marshal Chang Tso Lin, Manchurian warlord, continued his drive beyond the Great Wall today, hammering away at the advance posts of the Pekin government in several severe engagements. The Manchus were almost uniformly successful in early fighting, according to Japanese correspondents in the field.

Two of Chang Tso Lin's divisions, including crack cavalry units, attacked the important post of Chao Yang at 5 a. m. Sunday, routing the two Pekin brigades which held the town after eleven hours of fighting in which both sides lost heavily.

"The Manchus are preparing for a general attack all along the line this morning," the correspondent of the Mainichi cabled.

"Marshal Chang has made all his plans for a general drive on Pekin."

CHEKIANG TROOPS CONTROL SHANGHAI

Shanghai, Sept. 22.—General Lu Yung Hsiang's Chekiang troops still were in control of Shanghai today, holding out against Kiangsu troops attacking the city despite desertions and the great superiority of the enemy force.

There was scattered fighting over the week-end and General Hsieh Yuan evidently withheld his main force in hopes that the defenders would either surrender or abandon Shanghai without further fighting.

Lu, however, appeared determined to fight to the last and refused a new appeal of Shanghai merchants for an armistice. It was admitted that four of Lu's warships have deserted to the enemy.

CHARCOED BARBED WIRE TO GUARD FOREIGN SECTOR

Shanghai, Sept. 22.—Kiangsu troops attempting to capture Shanghai resumed their attack in force this afternoon.

The heavy rumble of artillery was heard in the city at midday and continued throughout the afternoon.

Guards around the foreign settlement and the French concession were summoned hastily to their posts and barbed wire entanglements around the zone were again charged with electricity, to prevent possible invasion by the fighting Chinese. An official bulletin was issued at the headquarters of General Lu Yung Hsiang, chief of the defending Chekiang troops, saying their position had been strengthened by abandoning outposts near Taihu Lake.

THE HORSE HAD MORE SENSE

A six-day running contest at the Crystal Palace between a man and a horse ended the other night with a decisive victory for the man.

The human contestant was C. W. Hart, 59 years old, and the horse was Saucy Lassie, ridden by Jockey Arthur Nightindall.

Both ran 10 hours daily until the final night, when the horse was withdrawn and Hart won by eight miles. The total distance run was: Hart, 245 miles; horse, 337.—London Letter to New York Herald-Tribune.

CLAIMS MEANS NOW DENIES HIS REPUDIATION

WHEELER ISSUES STATEMENT ABOARD SPECIAL CAR ON WAY TO BLOOMINGTON

MEANS ALSO REPORTED TO HAVE MENTIONED LETTER HE SENT TO DAUGHERTY

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 22.—President Coolidge and the republican national committee are involved in Daugherty's attempt to discredit the recent investigation of the Department of Justice, Senator Burton K. Wheeler declared he had been informed today. In a statement issued aboard his special car on the way to Bloomington from Chicago, Wheeler declared:

"I talked with Gaston B. Means by long distance telephone to Washington and he told me that he would report to our investigating committee the circumstances surrounding his alleged statement to Attorney-General Daugherty in which Means repudiated his previous testimony before the committee.

"Means declared he had not wished to make it public except before the committee, because it involved President Coolidge and the republican national committee.

"I told him to see Senator Ashurst, a member of our committee, now in Washington, and immediately tell Ashurst the whole story of how Daugherty got the letter from him.

"Means also mentioned a letter which he said had been sent to Daugherty. In the letter the facts of the alleged repudiation which Means has now denied are fully set forth.

"Means said he had been dealing with Blain Coan who previously had been mixed up in this case.

"I received confirmation of Means' statements from Theodore Tiller, a Washington newspaper correspondent, who talked with me on the phone from Washington after being up all night with Means.

He said that Means had talked with him also and that the facts implicated President Coolidge and the republican national committee."

Columbus, O., Sept. 22.—Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general who leaped back into the headlines over the week-end, sat quietly in his new law office today, watching the excitement.

He refused to issue a statement, but said that copies of his open letter to John W. Davis and copies of Means' repudiation documents, are true.

"I stand on what I have given out," Daugherty said. He declined to answer questions regarding the whereabouts of the alleged Means' document but friends indicated it was in Washington.

After distributing copies of his letter to Davis and the alleged Means repudiation letter Saturday, Daugherty left for Mount Sterling, where he spent the week-end with friends.

Returning to Columbus this morning he learned that Means in an interview in Washington had denied the repudiation of his testimony but apparently was not in the least disturbed by this information.

Daugherty moved back to Columbus recently after spending several weeks in "The Shack," a quiet retreat near his old home in Washington Courthouse. He hung out his shingle in the Yuster building and since has told callers that he was too busy to give any thought or comment to politics.

On East Gay Street, only a few blocks from the Daugherty Columbus home is the apartment of Miss Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of the late Jesse Smith and star witness for the prosecution in the senatorial investigation of Department of Justice.

As a result of the alleged statement of Means that her testimony was a "tissue of lies," Miss Stinson also was receiving reporters and telling them that she had not been coerced to testify as she did and that the testimony "was voluntary and true."

SABIN GIRL MISSING; RODE AWAY WITH MAN

Moorhead, Sept. 22.—May Erickson, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erick Erickson of near Sabin, has been missing from her home since Monday night when she was seen riding away on a horse with a man named Alden Frederick, it became known today.

The only trace of her which the authorities have is that she is believed to have been seen along the Red River south of Moorhead since her disappearance. A search was made along the river last night.

Frederick and a man named Jackson were observed to have hung about the neighborhood recently and the supposition of the authorities is that Jackson, who disappeared at the same time, rejoined Frederick and the girl.

The alarm was spread when the horse on which the girl and man were seen riding, returned to the Erickson farm alone.

Mr. Erickson made complaint of actions of a man toward May a year ago, according to Sheriff Peter Malvey. Moorhead police are assisting the sheriff's office in the search for the girl and Fargo and Cass county authorities have been notified of her disappearance.

The only distinguishing description of Frederick and Jackson given the authorities is that they wore large "cowboy" hats.—Clay County Herald.

JUDGE SIGNS WRIT IN GERMAN PAPER CASE

St. Paul, Sept. 22.—An order dismissing the receivership action recently instituted against the Volkszeitung Printing & Publishing Co., its officers and several other individuals, was signed in district court by Judge R. D. O'Brien.

The action was instituted by Nick Welsh, Joseph Wechtler, Louis Wechtler, Herbert Miels, Carl Knopf, August J. Burch, as guardian of Percy Duncanson, and Edward Unger and Mary Unger.

In addition to the company the suit named as defendants Arthur Lorenz, Mrs. C. H. Bergmiller, Clarence A. Cochran, Edward J. Ritter and L. A. Zecher.

AGED MOTHER OF SEN. WATSON DIED

(By United Press)
Winchester, Ind., Sept. 22.—Mrs. Mary Watson, mother of James E. Watson, United States senator from Indiana, died at her home here today from infirmities due to advanced age.

Watson, admitted his guilt today after an all-night cross-examination. He is so "sick to his stomach" that he cannot talk, prison officials announced. His collapse is not serious, it was stated.

WAR OVER THE SOUDAN IS FEARED

IMPERIALISTIC SCHEMES OF OPPONENTS NOW UP TO PREMIER TO ENFORCE

EGYPTIAN EXTREMISTS HAVE EYES ON FERTILE LANDS OF SOUDAN

(By United Press)
London, Sept. 22.—War in the defense of his political opponents' Imperialistic schemes is the prospect facing pacifist Labor Premier Ramsay MacDonald unless Egyptian extremists abandon their claims to domination in the Soudan.

And MacDonald is not shirking the issue. Actuated by entirely different motives from those of former British Empire-builders whose aim was to plant the Union Jack in every possible part of the African continent, MacDonald has declared roundly that in no circumstances will Britain surrender the Soudan to Egyptians who claim that this vast territory is properly part of ancient Egypt.

One thing pacifists can console themselves with, is that there is no question of "self-determination" in the present row. The Soudanese are not claiming self-government, and in fact, are very well contented under the present system of British administration, which affords them protection from savage raiding tribes in the south, east and west, as well as from their former grafting taskmasters in the north—Egypt.

Nationalist Claims
The trouble is that Egyptian nationalists, exulting over their recent attainment of self-government (Egypt is now virtually independent except that Britain retains control over the Suez Canal zone, and bans foreign alliances likely to endanger the Canal route to India) have laid a claim to the vast and fertile country in the south, a nation resurrected from a chaos of blood, savagery and misery, by British bayonets, and British money.

The Soudan is certainly a prize any nation might covet, and its financial, commercial and agricultural prosperity would be of the utmost value for replenishing Egypt's empty treasury. The Egyptians contend that it was formerly part of Egypt and anyway, the Nationalists object to having a British-controlled administration and British bayonets in the "rear," with the possibility that Britain might demand a right of way through Egypt for the reinforcement or movement of her military forces in the Soudan.

Claim Not Countenanced

TEACHERS CAPTURE MAN ACCUSED BY PUPILS AFTER CHASE

Minneapolis, Sept. 22.—A complaint filed today against Clarence Levi revealed the heroism of two Minneapolis school teachers who captured the man after watching for him several days.

The two teachers, Miss Elsie Gaedy and Frances Lathrop, teach in the Brooklyn Center school, just outside the Minneapolis city limits.

For several days little girls in their classes had told them that a man outside the school had been annoying them. The teachers watched for the man for several days and Thursday they saw Levi.

He ran when he saw the two teachers coming and they chased him. The pursuit led through two corn fields and a melon patch and the two women finally cornered the man between two fences and held him until help arrived.

Levi gave his address as 156 Lyndale Ave. N., Minneapolis.

Open Season on Bear Asked by Deer River Citizens; Stock Killed

St. Paul, Sept. 22.—Bears are reported numerous and wild in the vicinity of Deer River.

For this reason, Rep. George H. Herried, state legislator, wants Gov. Prews to order an open season for their killing.

He made the request of the governor today, saying in a telegram that the bears are killing sheep and cattle, and that children are afraid to go to school.

The governor will confer today with J. F. Gould, state game and fish commissioner, respecting Rep. Herried's request.

Bad Local Paper

St. Paul, Sept. 22.—Bad local paper today resulted in the closing of the Weaver State Bank, Weaver, Minn.

The bank had deposits of $80,000 and capital of $12,000.

The president is M. Weiser and cashier A. Wolf.

DISARMAMENT COMMISSION OF LEAGUE MEETS

(By United Press)
Geneva, Sept. 22.—A full session of the disarmament commission of the League of Nations has been summoned to meet at 3:30 p. m. to adopt the text of the commission's draft of the proposed treaty of arbitration, security and disarmament as suggested by Premiers MacDonald of England and Herriot of France.

The project will be presented to the League assembly tomorrow.

Minneapolis, Sept. 22.—A complaint filed today against Clarence Levi revealed the heroism of two Minneapolis school teachers who captured the man after watching for him several days.

The two teachers, Miss Elsie Gaedy and Frances Lathrop, teach in the Brooklyn Center school, just outside the Minneapolis city limits.

For several days little girls in their classes had told them that a man outside the school had been annoying them. The teachers watched for the man for several days and Thursday they saw Levi.

He ran when he saw the two teachers coming and they chased him. The pursuit led through two corn fields and a melon patch and the two women finally cornered the man between two fences and held him until help arrived.

Levi gave his address as 156 Lyndale Ave. N., Minneapolis.

Open Season on Bear Asked by Deer River Citizens; Stock Killed

St. Paul, Sept. 22.—Bears are reported numerous and wild in the vicinity of Deer River.

For this reason, Rep. George H. Herried, state legislator, wants Gov. Preus to order an open season for their killing.

He made the request of the governor today, saying in a telegram that the bears are killing sheep and cattle, and that children are afraid to go to school.

The governor will confer today with J. F. Gould, state game and fish commissioner, respecting Rep. Herried's request.

Bad Local Paper

St. Paul, Sept. 22.—Bad local paper today resulted in the closing of the Weaver State Bank, Weaver, Minn.

The bank had deposits of $80,000 and capital of $12,000.

The president is M. Weiser and cashier A. Wolf.

DISARMAMENT COMMISSION OF LEAGUE MEETS

(By United Press)
Geneva, Sept. 22.—A full session of the disarmament commission of the League of Nations has been summoned to meet at 3:30 p. m. to adopt the text of the commission's draft of the proposed treaty of arbitration, security and disarmament as suggested by Premiers MacDonald of England and Herriot of France. The project will be presented to the League assembly tomorrow.

TAMARACK HOTEL CONTRACT IS LET

Tamarack, Sept. 22.—A contract has been let to L. Johnson of Aitkin for construction of a new hotel in Tamarack. Mrs. Marie Koplen of Tamarack is the owner. The building will be completed within two months.

MANCHURIANS IN GENERAL DRIVE ON PEKIN, CHINA

MARSHAL CHANG TSO LIN CONTINUES DRIVE BEYOND GREAT WALL

CRACK CAVALRY ROUTS TWO PEKIN BRIGADES IN SHARP FIGHTING

(By United Press)
Osaka, Japan, Sept. 22.—Marshal Chang Tso Lin, Manchurian warlord, continued his drive beyond the Great Wall today, hammering away at the advance posts of the Pekin government in several severe engagements.

The Manchus were almost uniformly successful in early fighting, according to Japanese correspondents in the field.

Two of Chang Tso Lin's divisions, including crack cavalry units, attacked the important post of Chao Yang at 5 a. m. Sunday, routing the two Pekin brigades which held the town after eleven hours of fighting in which both sides lost heavily.

"The Manchus are preparing for a general attack all along the line this morning," the correspondent of the Mainichi cabled.

"Marshal Chang has made all his plans for a general drive on Pekin."

CHEKIANG TROOPS CONTROL SHANGHAI

Shanghai, Sept. 22.—General Lu Yung Hsiang's Chekiang troops still were in control of Shanghai today, holding out against Kiangsu troops attacking the city despite desertions and the great superiority of the enemy force.

There was scattered fighting over the week-end and General Hsieh Yuan evidently withheld his main force in hopes that the defenders would either surrender or abandon Shanghai without further fighting.

Lu, however, appeared determined to fight to the last and refused a new appeal of Shanghai merchants for an armistice. It was admitted that four of Lu's warships have deserted to the enemy.

CHARGED BARBED WIRE TO GUARD FOREIGN SECTOR

Shanghai, Sept. 22.—Kiangsu troops attempting to capture Shanghai resumed their attack in force this afternoon.

The heavy rumble of artillery was heard in the city at midday and continued throughout the afternoon.

Guards around the foreign settlement and the French concession were summoned hastily to their posts and barbed wire entanglements around the zone were again charged with electricity, to prevent possible invasion by the fighting Chinese. An official bulletin was issued at the headquarters of General Lu Yung Hsiang, chief of the defending Chekiang troops, saying their position had been strengthened by abandoning outposts near Taihu Lake.

THE HORSE HAD MORE SENSE

A six-day running contest at the Crystal Palace between a man and a horse ended the other night with a decisive victory for the man.

The human contestant was C. W. Hart, 59 years old, and the horse was Saucy Lassie, ridden by Jockey Arthur Nightindall.

Both ran 10 hours daily until the final night, when the horse was withdrawn and Hart won by eight miles. The total distance run was: Hart, 245 miles; horse, 337.—London Letter to New York Herald-Tribune.

CLAIMS MEANS NOW DENIES HIS REPUDIATION

WHEELER ISSUES STATEMENT ABOARD SPECIAL CAR ON WAY TO BLOOMINGTON

MEANS ALSO REPORTED TO HAVE MENTIONED LETTER HE SENT TO DAUGHERTY

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 22.—President Coolidge and the republican national committee are involved in Daugherty's attempt to discredit the recent investigation of the Department of Justice, Senator Burton K. Wheeler declared he had been informed today. In a statement issued aboard his special car on the way to Bloomington from Chicago, Wheeler declared:

"I talked with Gaston B. Means by long distance telephone to Washington and he told me that he would report to our investigating committee the circumstances surrounding his alleged statement to Attorney-General Daugherty in which Means repudiated his previous testimony before the committee.

"Means declared he had not wished to make it public except before the committee, because it involved President Coolidge and the republican national committee.

"I told him to see Senator Ashurst, a member of our committee, now in Washington, and immediately tell Ashurst the whole story of how Daugherty got the letter from him.

"Means also mentioned a letter which he said had been sent to Daugherty. In the letter the facts of the alleged repudiation which Means has now denied are fully set forth.

"Means said he had been dealing with Blain Coan who previously had been mixed up in this case.

"I received confirmation of Means' statements from Theodore Tiller, a Washington newspaper correspondent, who talked with me on the phone from Washington after being up all night with Means.

He said that Means had talked with him also and that the facts implicated President Coolidge and the republican national committee."

Columbus, O., Sept. 22.—Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general who leaped back into the headlines over the week-end, sat quietly in his new law office today, watching the excitement.

He refused to issue a statement, but said that copies of his open letter to John W. Davis and copies of Means' repudiation documents, are true.

"I stand on what I have given out," Daugherty said. He declined to answer questions regarding the whereabouts of the alleged Means' document but friends indicated it was in Washington.

After distributing copies of his letter to Davis and the alleged Means repudiation letter Saturday, Daugherty left for Mount Sterling, where he spent the week-end with friends.

Returning to Columbus this morning he learned that Means in an interview in Washington had denied the repudiation of his testimony but apparently was not in the least disturbed by this information.

Daugherty moved back to Columbus recently after spending several weeks in "The Shack," a quiet retreat near his old home in Washington Courthouse. He hung out his shingle in the Yuster building and since has told callers that he was too busy to give any thought or comment to politics.

On East Gay Street, only a few blocks from the Daugherty Columbus home is the apartment of Miss Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of the late Jesse Smith and star witness for the prosecution in the senatorial investigation of Department of Justice.

As a result of the alleged statement of Means that her testimony was a "tissue of lies," Miss Stinson also was receiving reporters and telling them that she had not been coerced to testify as she did and that the testimony "was voluntary and true."

HARTLEY IS HAILED VICTOR

Former Brainerd Man, Roland H. Hartley, Wins G. O. P. Nomination, Governor of Washington

HAS BRAINERD RELATIVES

Is Son-in-Law of Late Governor Clough and a Cousin of R. J. Hartley of Brainerd

With a lead of 1843 and only 46 precincts unreported, Col. Roland H. Hartley of Everett, Washington, was hailed as the winner of the Republican gubernatorial nomination in Washington by two of his opponents and by Mark E. Reed, speaker of the house of representatives, and supporter of E. L. French, the second candidate on the returns.

District Attorney Thomas P. Revelle, as reported by the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, dispatched this telegram: "Congratulations. You are a square, fine fighter."

Mr. Hartley at one time lived in Brainerd, and later removed to the west where he has prospered. He is a son-in-law of the late Governor Clough and a cousin of R. J. Hartley of Brainerd. He generally visits Brainerd annually.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hough Celebrated Happy Anniversary on Sunday, Sept. 21

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hough, 408 North Tenth street, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, September 21st. They were married in Michigan City on September 23rd, 1874.

All of the six children and one brother, were present for Sunday's festivities. The children are C. B. and H. M. Hough, of Minneapolis; J. A. Hough, of Wabasha; D. J. Hough, of Tyndall, S. D.; G. E. Hough, of Baker, Mont., and L. F. Hough, of Brainerd. Two daughters died in infancy. The brother who attended the anniversary is Thomas Hough, of Tyndall, S. D.

All of these relatives came to the city, unknown to the "bride and groom," and congregated at the L. F. Hough home, and proceeded to the residence of their parents, where they surprised the happy couple, who were not suspecting any celebration of their anniversary.

All enjoyed a dinner on Sunday, Mr.

and Mrs. L. F. Hough acting as hosts, and the balance of the day was spent informally.

Both Father and Mother Hough are enjoying excellent health and feel that they still have many years of married life ahead of them.

One Thing He Did Know

A magnate on trial had a very eloquent attorney. The summing up speech attracted a large gallery, and one of the listeners was so deeply impressed that he leaned over to the defendant and said: "What a lawyer that man is. PREPARING GROUND, PLANTING PEONIES

Peony Roots Ordered Last Week Will be Delivered Very
Soon

HOW TO PREPARE THE SOIL

Henry S. Cooper, Peony Fan of
Kenosha, Wis., Gives Valuable
Advice

The peony roots ordered last week will be delivered very soon. The wet weather has interfered with digging particularly where the soil is heavy.

It is suggested that instructions for planting be given so that the soil may be prepared and thus make planting a simple matter when the roots do arrive. The following instructions are given by Henry S. Cooper, "the peony fan" of Kenosha, Wis.

Preparing Ground and Planting

Whether your soil is heavy or light, it must have good drainage—that is, water must not stand so as to keep the soil wet—wetness and fresh manure are poison to peony roots. Any old place, that will do for other flowers, will do for peonies. But in preparing soil for peony planting, bear in mind that you are about to plant for a lifetime, and that fine flowers every year for a lifetime are as gratifying, as poor flowers for years are disappointing. As you are planting for years, take time and trouble to do it thoroughly once. It is not at all necessary to make extra preparation for peonies. We tell you how, so you may have the extra pleasure if you want it. It depends on how much of a fancier you are. Peonies are gross feeders, so there should be substance to the soil. If you have light, thin, sandy soil, it might perhaps be cheaper and better to just take the sandy soil right out and replace it two feet deep with good heavy soil, than to try to enrich the sand by adding humus.

But if you are going to bring up a sandy soil bear in mind the proportions used by greenhouse men, in making their soil for pots, etc.—two (2) parts black soil or rotted sod—one (1) part sand and one part humus or rotten leaves and some finely ground bone meal, etc.

A fair body of clay helps sandy soil if mixed in. If you have a heavy soil we will suppose you have a clay subsoil and that it is underdrained. A good way is to spade into your soil a reasonable amount of thoroughly rotted old manure or barn yard soil or bone meal. Do not overdo it. A better way is spade the fertilizer, of whatever nature, very deeply into the soil which you can do by throwing the spaded soil well back in front of the spade and keeping a deep ditch or furrow always open while spading. A best way is to spade fully two feet deep by throwing one foot deep of soil right out and then spade a liberal quantity of manure into the bottom foot of subsoil. Then replace the top foot of soil and spade in a liberal quantity of bone meal throughout the top foot of depth. This will give you a plant bed thoroughly spaded and fertilized two feet deep. The young peonies will start nicely in the bone meal soil and by the time the roots reach down into the subsoil the fertilizer then will have become well decomposed and incorporated. Having prepared your soil, plant the divisions so the top or eyes will be between two inches and three inches below the level of the soil.

Don't plant the roots flat like canna roots, but stand them up if not too long. A straw or leaf mulch over the first winter to prevent the frost from heaving them out will be a good thing. Peonies should be about three feet or a little more apart each way. Peonies do not do well when planted where peonies have grown before, but if wanted in the same place the old soil can be removed and fresh soil filled in its place—woodashes are often recommended for fertilizing peonies and of course it is mainly for the potash in the ashes. Lime and potash is a good dressing for Fall. Lime is good for acid soil made so by continual applications of manure. Heavy clay soils are seldom deficient in potash. When planted in heavy or clay soil, peonies usually have noticeably deeper and stronger coloring than in sandy soil.

The Spring of 1921 I had about two acres of land that had been overcropped. I bought five hundred dollars worth of fresh cattle manure and put it on about four inches deep. I plowed it under in the Spring lightly—just enough to cover it and by August it was thoroughly decomposed. I then plowed the land fully twelve inches deep, throwing

Unbroken Line of Northern Pacific Block Signals Now Spans Half the Continent, Twin Cities to Pacific

Completing the automatic block signal system of the Northern Pacific Railway at Little Falls, Minn., September 15, 1924. Schools were dismissed and business suspended for the ceremonies in which business men and railroad officials participated. The entire main line of the Northern Pacific from the Twin Cities to the Pacific Coast now is protected by automatic block signals. The Northern Pacific is the first transcontinental line west of Chicago to be so equipped. General Solicitor D. F. Lyons, principal speaker at the ceremonies, declared that in railroad annals the event was outranked only by the driving of the last spike when Northern Pacific rails linking east and west were joined at Gold Creek, Montana, September 8, 1883. C. A. Christofferson, Chief Signal Engineer, bolted on the last signal blade. The next to the last signal blade was attached by P. C. Peters, general signal inspector, representing the construction branch of the signal forces, and John E. Davies, oldest signal operator in Northern Pacific service. Inset shows Mr. Lyons.

the fertilized soil to the bottom which made an ideal peony field. By preparing land six months in advance of planting, fresh manure can be used nicely if old cannot be obtained.

When all is said and done my own belief and practice is that soil that is put in the condition of a good rich garden soil is the best for peonies, and if the soil is a clay soil or mixed with clay it is much better.

If I were to put the whole matter into one sentence, I would say put your fertilizer all in the subsoil, thoroughly mixed with the soil about two feet below the surface.

This also should be borne in mind that it is not necessary to fertilize peonies continually. If you have once made the soil as rich as it should be for a good garden and in the same condition, you can then plant your roots and leave the soil alone. After the roots have been planted, thorough and careful cultivation will do them much more good than further frequent fertilizing. I believe that cultivation is better than fertilizing once the soil has been put into good condition which should be done before planting. Cultivation as suggested is as advisable for peonies or other flowers as it is for potatoes or corn.

When you are planting, be sure not to omit the most important of all—be sure to label your plants so you will know in years to come what varieties you have. Very few people know what they already have and so they lose much of the interest in trying for finer flowers. Label the varieties plainly and securely, so the labels will not be lost. Then to make assurance doubly sure, make a little map on a piece of paper and mark on it the names and locations of varieties, and then put the paper between the leaves of one of your flower books and keep it there, so it will not become mislaid and lost. These things take only a little time and will give you great satisfaction later in greater interest in your flowers.

The Core of Standard Oil Service

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is more than a vendor of petroleum products. It is an organization of service.

When we say that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is an organization of service, we mean much more than the every day tangible service rendered our customers through the manufacture, sale and delivery of oil products.

"Service" is a comprehensive term. It means anticipating the needs of the public and preparing to supply these needs when the demand comes.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is laboring day after day to widen the sphere of usefulness occupied by the petroleum industry.

It is broadening the field of service which oil products offer to humanity. It is extending the application of exact science in this most fundamental of all modern industries. It carries on continuously a search for knowledge which shall be of value to society.

In carrying on this great work, it calls upon human ability in every field; it seizes upon the most daring ideas and labors to make them practical through unceasing effort.

Problems which presented seemingly insuperable difficulties have been overcome—limitations which threatened to hamper the development of the industry have been removed.

Improvements in refining, marketing and distribution have been developed, perfected and put into daily operation.

Yet, this is but part of the great service rendered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

This generation scarcely can appreciate the role which oil will play in the future. Anticipating the demands which will be made upon it, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is attracting to its ranks, men with the training, knowledge, vision and enthusiasm necessary to pioneer in the development of the petroleum industry as it will be tomorrow and in the days to come.

The core of Standard Oil Service is in the keen minds of the men who labor in the laboratory and the workshop—unseen and unnoted by the public. It is this part of the organization which has enabled the Company to render so complete a service to society.

Here a host of perplexing problems are taken—problems of manufacture, problems of application, and problems of effectiveness—and each is studied, worked upon and solved, that the patrons of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) may get the greatest value for the money they spend.

PREPARING GROUND, PLANTING PEONIES

Peony Roots Ordered Last Week Will be Delivered Very
Soon

HOW TO PREPARE THE SOIL

Henry S. Cooper, Peony Fan of
Kenosha, Wis., Gives Valuable
Advice

The peony roots ordered last week will be delivered very soon. The wet weather has interfered with digging particularly where the soil is heavy.

It is suggested that instructions for planting be given so that the soil may be prepared and thus make planting a simple matter when the roots do arrive. The following instructions are given by Henry S. Cooper, "the peony fan" of Kenosha, Wis.

Preparing Ground and Planting

Whether your soil is heavy or light, it must have good drainage—that is, water must not stand so as to keep the soil wet—wetness and fresh manure are poison to peony roots. Any old place, that will do for other flowers, will do for peonies. But in preparing soil for peony planting, bear in mind that you are about to plant for a lifetime, and that fine flowers every year for a lifetime are as gratifying, as poor flowers for years are disappointing. As you are planting for years, take time and trouble to do it thoroughly once. It is not at all necessary to make extra preparation for peonies. We tell you how, so you may have the extra pleasure if you want it. It depends on how much of a fancier you are. Peonies are gross feeders, so there should be substance to the soil. If you have light, thin, sandy soil, it might perhaps be cheaper and better to just take the sandy soil right out and replace it two feet deep with good heavy soil, than to try to enrich the sand by adding humus.

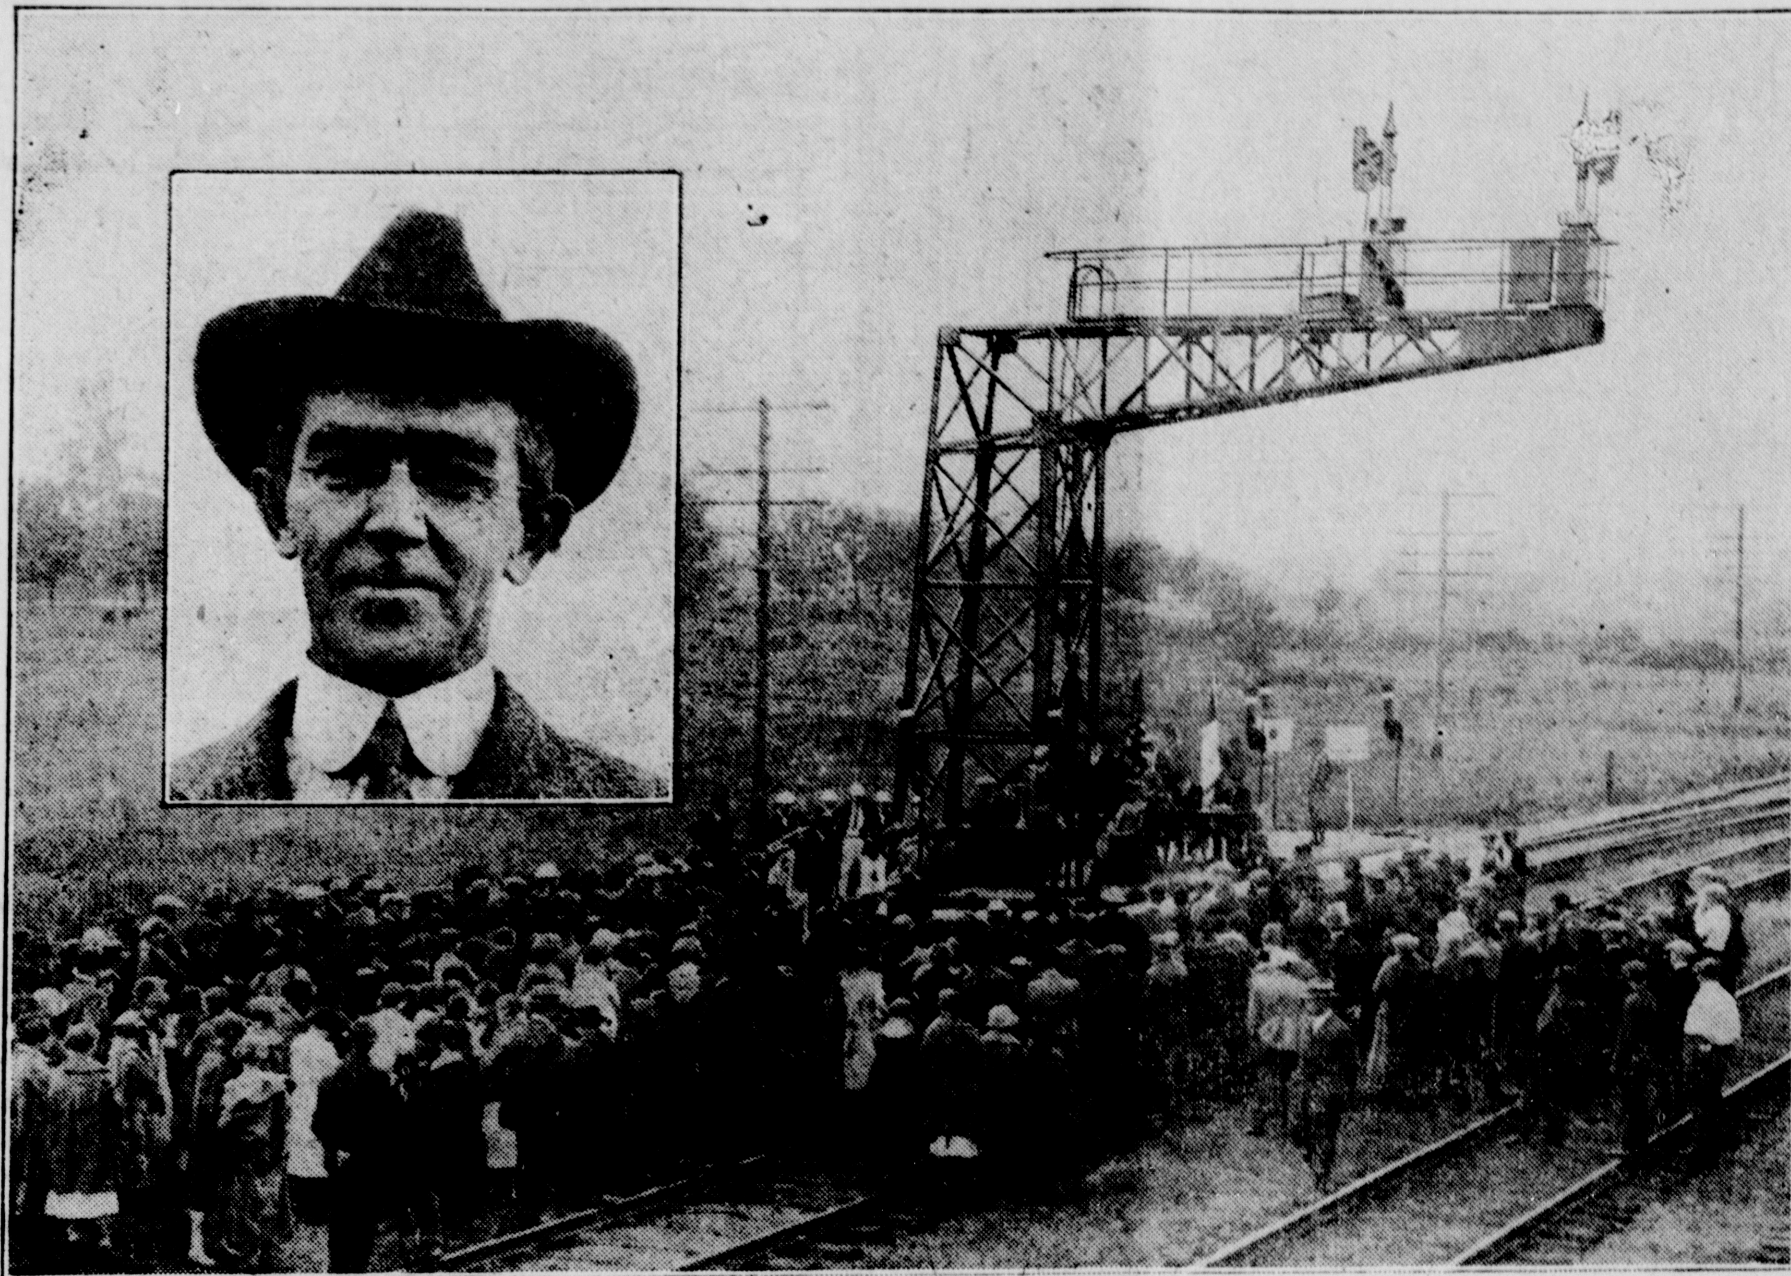

But if you are going to bring up a sandy soil bear in mind the proportions used by greenhouse men, in making their soil for pots, etc.—two (2) parts black soil or rotted sod—one (1) part sand and one part humus or rotten leaves and some finely ground bonemeal, etc.

A fair body of clay helps sandy soil if mixed in. If you have a heavy soil we will suppose you have a clay subsoil and that it tile underdrained. A good way is to spade into your soil a reasonable amount of thoroughly rotted old manure or barn yard soil or bonemeal. Do not overdo it. A better way is spade the fertilizer, of whatever nature, very deeply into the soil which you can do by throwing the spaded soil well back in front of the spader and keeping a deep ditch or furrow always open while spading. A best way is to spade fully two feet deep by throwing one foot deep of soil right out and then spade a liberal quantity of manure into the bottom foot of subsoil. Then replace the top foot of soil and spade in a liberal quantity of bonemeal throughout the top foot of depth. This will give you a plant bed thoroughly spaded and fertilized two feet deep. The young peonies will start nicely in the bonemeal soil and by the time the roots reach down into the subsoil the fertilizer then will have become well decomposed and incorporated. Having prepared your soil, plant the divisions so the top or eyes will be between two inches and three inches below the level of the soil.

Don't plant the roots flat like canna roots, but stand them up if not too long. A straw or leaf mulch over the first winter to prevent the frost from heaving them out will be a good thing. Peonies should be about three feet or a little more apart each way. Peonies do not do well when planted where peonies have grown before, but if wanted in the same place the old soil can be removed and fresh soil filled in its place—woodashes are often recommended for fertilizing peonies and of course it is mainly for the potash in the ashes. Lime and potash is a good dressing for Fall. Lime is good for acid soil made so by continual applications of manure. Heavy clay soils are seldom deficient in potash. When planted in heavy or clay soil, peonies usually have noticeably deeper and stronger coloring than in sandy soil.

The Spring of 1921 I had about two acres of land that had been overcropped. I bought five hundred dollars worth of fresh cattle manure and put it on about four inches deep. I plowed it under in the Spring lightly—just enough to cover it and by August it was thoroughly decomposed. I then plowed the land fully twelve inches deep, throwing

Completing the automatic block signal system of the Northern Pacific Railway at Little Falls, Minn., September 15, 1924. Schools were dismissed and business suspended for the ceremonies in which business men and railroad officials participated. The entire main line of the Northern Pacific from the Twin Cities to the Pacific Coast now is protected by automatic block signals. The Northern Pacific is the first transcontinental line west of Chicago to be so equipped. General Solicitor D. F. Lyons, principal speaker at the ceremonies, declared that in railroad annals the event was outranked only by the driving of the last spike when Northern Pacific rails linking east and west were joined at Gold Creek, Montana, September 8, 1883. C. A. Christofferson, Chief Signal Engineer, bolted on the last signal blade. The next to the last signal blade was attached by P. C. Peters, general signal inspector, representing the construction branch of the signal forces, and John E. Davies, oldest signal operator in Northern Pacific service. Inset shows Mr. Lyons.

the fertilized soil to the bottom which made an ideal peony field. By preparing land six months in advance of planting, fresh manure can be used nicely if old cannot be obtained.

When all is said and done my own belief and practice is that soil that is put in the condition of a good rich garden soil is the best for peonies, and if the soil is a clay soil or mixed with clay it is much better.

If I were to put the whole matter into one sentence, I would say put your fertilizer all in the subsoil, thoroughly mixed with the soil about two feet below the surface.

This also should be borne in mind that it is not necessary to fertilize peonies continually. If you have once made the soil as rich as it should be for a good garden and in the same condition, you can then plant your roots and leave the soil alone. After the roots have been planted, thorough and careful cultivation will do them much more good than further frequent fertilizing. I believe that cultivation is better than fertilizing once the soil has been put into good condition which should be done before planting. Cultivation as suggested is as advisable for peonies or other flowers as it is for potatoes or corn.

When you are planting, be sure not to omit the most important of all—be sure to label your plants so you will know in years to come what varieties you have. Very few people know what they already have and so they lose much of the interest in trying for finer flowers. Label the varieties plainly and securely, so the labels will not be lost. Then to make assurance doubly sure, make a little map on a piece of paper and mark on it the names and locations of varieties, and then put the paper between the leaves of one of your flower books and keep it there, so it will not become mislaid and lost. These things take only a little time and will give you great satisfaction later in greater interest in your flowers.

The Core of Standard Oil Service

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is more than a vendor of petroleum products. It is an organization of service.

When we say that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is an organization of service, we mean much more than the every day tangible service rendered our customers through the manufacture, sale and delivery of oil products.

"Service" is a comprehensive term. It means anticipating the needs of the public and preparing to supply these needs when the demand comes.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is laboring day after day to widen the sphere of usefulness occupied by the petroleum industry.

It is broadening the field of service which oil products offer to humanity. It is extending the application of exact science in this most fundamental of all modern industries. It carries on continuously a search for knowledge which shall be of value to society.

In carrying on this great work, it calls upon human ability in every field; it seizes upon the most daring ideas and labors to make them practical through unceasing effort.

Problems which presented seemingly insuperable difficulties have been overcome—limitations which threatened to hamper the development of the industry have been removed.

Improvements in refining, marketing and distribution have been developed, perfected and put into daily operation.

Yet, this is but part of the great service rendered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

This generation scarcely can appreciate the role which oil will play in the future. Anticipating the demands which will be made upon it, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is attracting to its ranks, men with the training, knowledge, vision and enthusiasm necessary to pioneer in the development of the petroleum industry as it will be tomorrow and in the days to come.

The core of Standard Oil Service is in the keen minds of the men who labor in the laboratory and the workshop—unseen and unnoted by the public. It is this part of the organization which has enabled the Company to render so complete a service to society.

Here a host of perplexing problems are taken—problems of manufacture, problems of application, and problems of effectiveness—and each is studied, worked upon and solved, that the patrons of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) may get the greatest value for the money they spend.

THE GREAT HEART OF AMERICA SPOKE IN RUSSIA

WHEN famine's gaunt hand was laid on Russia, where did she appeal for aid? In the worlds of President Coolidge: "We relieved their pitiable destitution with an enormous charity." It took the form of an appropriation of $20,000,000 by Congress out of public funds with which to buy grain and ship it to Russia. Other millions were raised by private contribution and enough funds were realized to feed ten million people every day for the year, most of whom would probably have died had it not been for the generous American charity, ably directed by Secretary of Commerce Hoover and his assistants.

We do not have to rely upon our own reports to learn of the tremendous work that was done in Russia. Sir Philip Gibbs, who was knighted for the quality of his war reporting, was on the ground, and his story of what happened may be accepted as the account of a competent and impartial judge who has no object in showing special favor to Americans. Here is what he says:

"Engines were overhauled, roads repaired, freight cars rebuilt. Barges were launched in the rivers. The telegraph service was revived. No less than 120,000 Russians, working directly under the American Relief Administration, were taught unfamiliar business methods and revitalized with hope and energy. The 'intellectuals,' broken by the revolution, starving and despairing, came out of their hovels, received help, volunteered for service. And the American Relief Administration, having got things going in a country where 131,000,000 people were actually short of food, and where 15,000,000 at least were actually threatened by death from starvation, engineered the greatest scheme of charitable relief ever attempted in the history of the world—and carried it through. For a year they fed more than 10,000,000 people every day, and when one thinks of the immense organization required to supply our armies in France, the vast labor involved, the transport required, it seems miraculous that all the food could be conveyed from the United States and distributed through Russia to the famine areas, with hardly any loss. Even now it seems incredible, though it is true."

While that great charity was being carried out, the League of Nations sat supinely by, utterly impotent or unwilling to give any practical aid to the suffering and dying Russians. And during all of that time, the people of the United States were listening to the pleas and threats of the internationalists as they sought to make the United States a member of the League. Those who preferred to maintain American independence and to exert American world influence were branded as "isolationists."

BURNISHING UP THE HOME

MANY householders are taking advantage of reasonable prices of building material and are burnishing up their homes. September and October are good months for repair work and building. Take an inventory of your home, and see what it needs. Don't do it alone, but have your wife make the rounds with you.

Friend Wife is entitled to some consideration. In many homes she is the silent partner, or almost silent partner on house improvements. She is entitled to much consideration because she spends so many hours in the home.

You speak of office and factory efficiency, but there is also such a thing as home efficiency. It consists in providing Friend Wife with electrical conveniences such as vacuum cleaner, electric washing machine, hot and cold running water, furnace or steam heat, hardwood floors, plastered or painted rooms or decorated with wall paper, a kitchen so planned as to reduce steps to a minimum—in fact there are a hundred and one things which will bring efficiency to her housework and save her much hard labor.

A laundry room can be so designed as to make lifting a negligible quantity. Hot and cold water can be piped to necessary tubs, drainage can be provided, etc., that she or the maid need only turn faucets instead of lifting heavy water, etc.

Housework is one of the hardest jobs on earth, monotonous too. If you don't believe it, try running the house, getting the meals, etc., for the family when Friend Wife goes on a vacation, that is if the daily regime has enough consideration to give her a real vacation annually.

RABBIT TRACKS

BRAINERD seems unable to rise above the small town practice of keeping alive its rabbit tracks. We refer to the men, women and children who track over paths cut into lawns, and who thus save a few steps in that manner instead of following cement walks and turning square corners.

In one way it seems foolish to build expensive cement walks when people cut across streets between regular corners, thus evidencing their jay-walking proclivities. In case of traffic accidents a jay-walker has little recourse.

The people who are laboring to develop lawns certainly do not like to see their work tramped down. It is reported that signs asking people to keep off the grass are kicked down by the ones eager to follow the rabbit paths.

Children should be taught to respect lawns. They may still be educated to follow pedestrian rules. As to the older people who for a quarter century or more have persisted in making these shortcuts, it may be impossible to educate them to the necessity of walking on cement walks.

DUE to stormy conditions Sunday, Brainerd's light service played peekaboo. Candles and lamps and lanterns were resurrected to tide over four or more dark periods.

GENERAL PERSHING is too good a man to put on an inactive retired list. His counsel and experience are too valuable to be shelved. France, England, Germany, Italy draw no old-age lines.

THE finish in the National and American Leagues is getting as strenuous as regular world's series play. It's less than a dozen games to the finish line.

Gunnar B. Bjornson in
The Minnesota Mascot

Twenty years ago, in going to Ortonville from Minnesota, we drove by team to Marshall. From there we took the Great Northern noon train to Granite Falls and there changed to the Milwaukee, arriving in Ortonville late in the afternoon.

When we made the trip in July this summer we drove by automobile along the graveled roads of the Babcock system and made it by easy stages in about three hours.

What a difference!

Think of the mud roads of twenty years ago and then look at the graveled roads of today!

Who wants to go back to the old system of roads?

Look at the fine farm homes along the road today. See the herds of blooded cattle. See the barns and silos. Contrast the farmers' conveniences with those of twenty years ago—the automobile on the graveled road today, the old team trudging through the mud twenty years ago! Contrast the heavy drudgery and the hard labor of twenty years ago with the same work done by machinery today. Not that there is not enough hard work, enough drudgery today, but surely there is a difference when we look at what machines today are doing which twenty years ago had to be done by the power of the human arm.

There were few telephones in use through this territory twenty years ago. Only some villages had telephone systems—hardly a rural telephone line anywhere.

Twenty years ago there were mighty few rural mail routes anywhere. There were far fewer and much poorer school houses than today. There was no system of drainage of farm lands. There were few creameries and little in the line of co-operative enterprises.

The phonograph, now a common thing and to be found in almost every home, was then quite rare. The wireless and the radio were unknown.

There was no bus transportation and out in this section of the country, we had never seen a flying machine of any kind.

These are but a few of the differences of now and then.

We will not enter into an argument as to whether people are any happier today than they were twenty years ago. Happiness is a relative term and means one thing to one man and quite another to someone else.

The thing that makes one man happy may have no power to move another along the line of the same emotion.

But surely it cannot be denied that there has been progress—progress to the end that men and women may live more in less time.

Bullbat is a local name given to the night hawk. Both the night hawk and whippoorwill are nightjars. The markings on the throat of the night hawk make it easily distinguished from the whippoorwill. This white mark is shaped like the letter V, a broad white bar, which extends across the first primary wing feathers. This is plainly visible when the bird is near by and flying.

Lions Travel Paved Streets

In the Belgian Congo in Africa, although many miles of streets are paved, it is necessary for automobilists and other travelers to light fires at night to ward off lions and other animals. The fires are also used to ward off savage citizens.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed is check for $10 for the Sanatorium Radio fund.

In my opinion there is now no local proposition before the public wherein a small contribution will be the means of bringing so much pleasure and comfort to a considerable number of patients whose opportunities for recreation are necessarily restricted. Sincerely hope that your committee will meet with a generous response to this very worthy cause.

The Time to Criticize

H. L. Mencken, the New York critic, has published a couple of books, and now Mr. Mencken knows what it feels like to be criticized.

"Oh, well," he said with a shrug the other day, "adverse criticism isn't always fair, you know. There may be some animus behind it."

"Once I was about to attend a movie show in Baltimore. A colored man in gorgeous livery stood at the entrance, and I said to him:

"Is it a good show, George?"

"No, sah, it's a rotten show," said he.

"Why, George, I said, 'that's no way for you to talk. Such talk is bad for business. You'd better be careful, old man, or you'll be fired.'"

"Ah is fired," said George." Every body's.

Egypt has no sort of claim to the Soudan, and that when the Egyptians were nominally rulers of the country, they were quite unable, and did not even try to run the country decently. They encouraged, and permitted Abyssinians and other neighboring races to raid, murder and loot at will. Such a plague spot of murder, robbery, brutality and beastiality has rarely existed on the borders of civilization as the Soudan under Egyptian rule, prior to British taking control.

British "empire-builders" who had taken over the government of Egypt to safeguard the Suez Canal, pushed their outposts into the desert, increased navigation facilities on the Nile, and by a system of dams and irrigation turned an arid wilderness into a fertile country.

Chaos Again

The British were putting down slave-raiding—by Egyptians and others alike—and were establishing a sense of security among the population, when a wave of religious fanaticism swept up from the south and the Arabs, Bedouins, and other Moslems under Mohammed-el-Mahdi fell upon Khartoum, then the administrative capital of the Soudan, and reduced everything to chaos again.

Major-General Charles "Chinese" Gordon (that great Christian soldier and administrator) was betrayed by his bodyguard and assassinated, and Contrast the farmers' conveyances with those of twenty years ago—the automobile on the gravelled road today, the old team trudging through the mud twenty years ago! Contrast the heavy drudgery and the hard labor of twenty years ago with the same work done by machinery today. Not that there is not enough hard work, enough drudgery today, but surely there is a difference when we look at what machines today are doing which twenty years ago had to be done by the power of the human arm.

There were few telephones in use through this territory twenty years ago. Only some villages had telephone systems—hardly a rural telephone line anywhere.

Twenty years ago there were mighty few rural mail routes anywhere. There were far fewer and much poorer school houses than today. There was no system of drainage of farm lands. There were few creameries and little in the line of co-operative enterprises.

The phonograph, now a common thing and to be found in almost every home, was then quite rare. The wireless and the radio were unknown.

There was no bus transportation and out in this section of the country, we had never seen a flying machine of any kind.

These are but a few of the differences of now and then.

We will not enter into an argument as to whether people are any happier today than they were twenty years ago. Happiness is a relative term and means one thing to one man and quite another to someone else.

The thing that makes one man happy may have no power to move another along the line of the same emotion.

But surely it cannot be denied that there has been progress—progress to the end that men and women may live more in less time.

Of the Same Family

Bullbat is a local name given to the nighthawk. Both the nighthawk and whippoorwill are nightjars. The markings on the throat of the nighthawk make it easily distinguished from the whippoorwill. This white mark is shaped like the letter V, a broad white bar, which extends across the first primary wing feathers. This is plainly visible when the bird is near by and flying.

Lions Travel Paved Streets

In the Belgian Congo in Africa, although many miles of streets are paved, it is necessary for automobilists and other travelers to light fires at night to ward off lions and other animals. The fires are also used to ward off savage citizens.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed is check for $10 for the Sanatorium Radio fund.

In my opinion there is now no local proposition before the public wherein a small contribution will be the means of bringing so much pleasure and comfort to a considerable number of patients whose opportunities for recreation are necessarily restricted. Sincerely hope that your committee will meet with a generous response to this very worthy cause.

The Time to Criticize

H. L. Mencken, the New York critic, has published a couple of books, and few Mr. Mencken knows what it feels like to be criticized.

"Oh, well," he said with a shrug the other day, "adverse criticism isn't always fair, you know. There may be some animus behind it. 'Once I was about to attend a movie show in Baltimore. A colored man in gorgeous livery stood at the entrance, and I said to him: 'Is it a good show, George?' 'No, sah, it's a rotten show,' said he. 'Why, George, I said, 'that's no way for you to talk. Such talk is bad or business. You'd better be careful, old man, or you'll be fired.' 'Ah is fired,' said George.' Every body's."

Egypt has no sort of claim to the Soudan, and that when the Egyptians were nominal rulers of the country, they were quite unable, and did not even try to run the country decently. They encouraged, and permitted Abyssinians and other neighboring races to raid, murder and loot at will. Such a plague spot of murder, robbery, brutality and beastiality has rarely existed on the borders of civilization as the Soudan under Egyptian rule, prior to British taking control.

British "empire-builders" who had taken over the government of Egypt to safeguard the Suez Canal, pushed their outposts into the desert, increased navigation facilities on the Nile, and by a system of dams and irrigation turned an arid wilderness into a fertile country.

Chaos Again

The British were putting down slave-raiding—by Egyptians and others alike—and were establishing a sense of security among the population, when a wave of religious fanaticism swept up from the south and the Arabs, Bedouins, and other Moslems under Mohammed-el-Mahdi fell upon Khartoum, then the administrative capital of the Soudan, and reduced everything to chaos again.

Major-General Charles "Chinese" Gordon (that great Christian soldier and administrator) was betrayed by his bodyguard and assassinated, and

HOW SELF HELP MADE EFFECTIVE

Social Workers Getting Away From Gift Principle, Believed Sound

THE GOODWILL INDUSTRY

Gives the Poor a Chance to Buy
Cheaply, Also Supplies Work to Those Able (Contributed)

"How can I help a man without doing him harm?" This is a question that always arises in the minds of those who wish to help. In time past gifts and charities have been the rule. Today social workers are getting away from the gift principle and devising ways by which people may help themselves. This is sound economics and it is sound principle for the uplift of human life.

The Goodwill Industry which gives the poor a chance to buy cheaply and supplies work to those who are not able to do full capacity work is taking the place of charities. Not because people are not willing to give, but because to give to a man injures him, by making him less self-reliant, less self-respecting, and creating in him a habit of expecting others to supply his needs.

The Brainerd Goodwill Industry is now being operated in the basement of the city library. The sales room is open on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. Its purpose is to supply an open market of used garments, shoes, furniture, and any other things that it can handle at a price only designed to pay the expenses of operation. These garments are donated by the people of the city.

No one has been asked thus far to make any donation to the Goodwill, in money, but everyone is asked to give to it everything that they were going to throw away or lay aside or even things which they can dispense with which still have considerable use in them.

Mrs. James Shaw is in charge of the soliciting and the sales room, telephone 552-J. She will be glad to send for any garments or parcels you may wish to donate to this cause. Every person is urgently requested to contribute in this way to help those who need a chance to buy goods at a low price.

Legend of Unicorn

Medieval conception of the unicorn as possessing great strength and fierceness may have been partly due to the fact that in certain passages of the Old Testament, the word Rem (translated in the authorized version, unicorn) refers to a two-horned animal, savage and quarrelsome, subdued to gentleness only at the side of a virgin. The idea of purity is included in the significance of the unicorn used in many coats of arms.

The Transparent Male

FRANK DAY'S TRAVELS

(Fairmont Sentinel)

The Jefferson highway—the hard-surfaced, leading speedway of the state—is a wonder. It overwhelms, confounds and converts the paving skeptics. It is the one and only eventual solution of the good roads problem. Permanency and economy, the multiplicity of cars, safety and comfort—all, all cry out for the hard-surfaced road. Fogies will fight it but they will die off. The times demand progress and the next step in progress is pavement. I am making plans to live until pavement and an absolutely weedless highway stretch out from Fairmont to the borders of the county, north, south, east and west. Some will declare me nutty but dirt is abhorrent in street and road. It was made to grow crops, not to travel on.

Among the most marvelous things in Minnesota are the Babcock Highway signs, giving directions where to go, how to go, when to go, and telling the traveler and tourist everything that facilitates his journey, saves time and conduces to his safety. The system is perfect. A dozen different signs stare one in the face on the Jefferson route, making plain everything that helps one on the way. Here are a few of those I noticed as we swept through space: "Loose Gravel;" "Not Safe for Loads over 4 Tons;" "Cross Roads;" "Railroad Crossing;" "Tourist Camp;" "Narrow Road;" "Go Slow;" "New Grading;" "Detour;" "Turn to the Right;" "Danger." We were going so like lightning I am sure I did not get them all. Some of them are useless in daytime but valuable at night. "Mr. Babcock's head must have been working," remarked Mrs. Fairley, "when he planned his wonderful campaign to expedite travel." Every sign is neat and attractive.

STARTING CRIME CAREER AT SIX, FORGED CHECKS FOR MILLION, IS CHARGE

Although Aaron Mosheik, known to the Federal authorities as "Jim the Penman," is only 22 years old, he is alleged to have forged checks for more than a million dollars. With a gang of perhaps fifteen members, he was captured by the federal officers who had been on his trail for the last six years, and is held in Chicago. Mosheik is said to have been started on his career of crime when he was but six years old.

"I am 69 years of age, but since taking Tanlac I have gained 9 lbs. and don't feel over 40," are the splendid results Mrs. Sarah Spencer, 2109 22nd Ave., S., Minneapolis, Minn., declares she has obtained from the celebrated treatment.

"For two years stomach trouble, constipation and biliousness kept me awfully run-down. I was almost a nervous wreck, got very little ease or rest and was right on the verge of giving up.

"One day I asked a man, whose picture and testimonial I saw in the paper if Tanlac really helped him. He said, 'Tanlac saved my life,' so I lost no time buying Tanlac and the results are, I have gained 9 lbs. and enjoy splendid health. I now know for myself that Tanlac is wonderful."

FARM DEFLATION POLICY OF DEMOCRATS

Washington, Sept. 20.—The farms of the United States were pushed so far into the valley of depression by the democratic policy of farm deflation, enacted in 1920 that it took almost four full years of constructive Republican administration to bring them back.

Such was the pithy comment of Henry C. Wallace, secretary of Agriculture on reading the effort of the Democratic campaign organization in its campaign textbook to absolve itself of the blame for the almost ruin of American agricultural enterprise, Mr. Wallace said.

"The democratic committee's statement of the troubles of the farmer is not new. For more than three years the republican administration has been trying to rescue the farmer from the depression into which he was plunged by eight years of democratic rule. Such depressions as agriculture has been passing through do not develop over night or within a few months. They are the result of conditions which too often, as in this case, are the result of unwise statesmanship. This oppression is peculiarly the result of such conditions. The troubles of the farmer are directly due mainly to democratic mistakes. No sooner was the result of the 1920 election fairly evident than the democrats began a systematic deflation of the farmer on the excuse that the cost of living must be reduced. In the spring of 1920, the farmer's position was fairly satisfactory in relation to other groups. In the late summer of 1920, members of the democratic administration served notice that the price of farm products must come down. War surplus was thrown on the market. Farmers were called on to pay their notes, thus forcing crops on the market. The word went out that agriculture must be deflated, and as prices began to drop through this pressure, buyers withdrew from the market except as to hand to mouth needs, which added impetus to the decline. Democratic senators and representatives in congress and in important administrative positions have themselves been most unsparing critics of this ruinous democratic policy. The result of it all was that perpendicular drop in the prices of farm products while the cost of everything else remained high. The democrats had given the farmers such a push into the valley of depression that it was six months after the republicans came into power before the price drop could be checked. It was checked by vigorous legislative and administrative action, and gradually farm prices and the farmer's buying power has increased until today the farmer is in a better position than at any time since he became the victim of unprovoked assault by unwise democratic leadership."

A Romance of the Spanish Main CAPTAIN BLOOD By RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini.

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitaphone picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS

Peter Blood, a young Irish physician, is sent to the Barbadoes as a slave under orders of King James. He is bought by Colonel Bishop, the military commander, and falls in love with Arabella, the niece of the colonel. Spaniards bombard the city and sack it. Blood saves Arabella and Mary Trull. He captures the ship and sails for Tortuga, the rendezvous of buccanniers of the Spanish Main. There Captain Blood, tormented by his fear that he will never see Arabella again and importuned by his comrade, takes command of a pirate fleet. Levasseur, a Frenchman, enlists under him. Levasseur captures a Dutch vessel and lands with Madelon d'Ogeron, daughter of the Dutch governor, and her brother on one of the Virgin Islands. There he demands ransom for d'Ogeron and holds Madelon as hostage. Upon this scene enters Captain Blood whose ship had lost sight of Levasseur's vessel in the storm.

CHAPTER XV—Continued

"Not so," Levasseur contained himself with difficulty before that irony. "They were in the Dutch brig."

"I don't remember that you mentioned them before."

"I did not. They are prisoners of my own—a personal matter. They are French."

"French!" Captain Blood's light eyes stabbed at Levasseur, then at the prisoners. He frowned thoughtfully upon Levasseur.

"Yesterday you surprised me by making war upon the friendly Dutch. But now it seems that not even your own countrymen are safe from you."

"Have I not said this is a matter personal to me?"

"Ah! And their names?"

The prisoner answered for him.

"I am Henri d'Ogeron, and this is my sister."

"D'Ogeron?" Captain Blood started. "Are you related by chance to my good friend the Governor of Tortuga?"

"He is my father."

"The saints preserve us now! Are you quite mad, Levasseur?"

Captain Blood sat down on the cask that Levasseur had lately occupied, and looked up blandly. "I may inform you, to save time, that I heard the entire proposal that you made to this lady and this gentleman, and I'll also remind you that we sail under articles that admit no ambiguities. You have fixed their ransom at twenty thousand pieces of eight. That sum then belongs to your crews and mine in the proportions by the articles established. But what is far more grave is that you have concealed from me this part of the prizes taken on your last cruise, and for such an offense as that the articles provide certain penalties that are something severe in character."

"Ho, ho!" laughed Levasseur unpleasantly. Then added: "If you dislike my conduct we can dissolve the association."

"That is my intention. But we'll dissolve it when and in the manner that I choose, and that will be as soon as you have satisfied the articles under which we sailed upon this cruise."

"What do you mean?"

"I'll accept the situation as I find it. Yourself you've fixed the ransom of this couple at twenty thousand pieces, and, as I gather, the lady is to be your perquisite. But why should she be your perquisite more than another's, seeing that she belongs by the articles to all of us, as a prize of war? However, I'll not dispute her to you if you are prepared to buy her."

"Buy her?"

"At the price you have set upon her."

"That is the ransom of the man. It is to be paid for him by the Governor of Tortuga."

"No, no. You've set their value at twenty thousand pieces, and for that sum you may have them, since you desire it; but you'll pay for them the twenty thousand pieces that are ultimately to come to you as the ransom of one and the dowry of the other; and that sum shall be divided among our crews."

That Captain Blood should dare oppose him with but a dozen followers whilst he had a hundred at his beck and call never entered the ruffian's mind. But he did not reckon on the cupidity of his own men. They saw twenty thousand pieces within their reach. Levasseur demanded time until he had captured sufficient booty. But Blood would have none of that. Death lurked always in this desperate business, and he added:

"Then let some one buy the prisoners who has."

"And who do you suppose has it if I have not?"

"I have," said Captain Blood.

"You have!" Levasseur's mouth fell open. "You... you want the girl?"

Captain Blood drew forth a small bag, twenty pearls poured into his hand, and Cahusac appraised them as worth the ransom. Levasseur in his anger sprang at Cahusac, and a blow scattered the pearls in the sand. The men dived for them.

Levasseur, his hand on his sword, his face a white mask of rage, confronted Captain Blood.

"You do not take her while I live!" he cried.

"Then I'll take her when you're dead," said Captain Blood, and his own blade flashed in the sunlight.

"You do not take her while I live," he cried.

It was soon over. When, with both lungs transfixed, he lay prone on the white sand, coughing out his rascally life, Captain Blood looked calmly at Cahusac across the body.

"I think that cancels the articles between us," he said.

With soulless, cynical eyes Cahusac and his mates considered the twitching body of their recent leader. Captain Blood had brought them to find Levasseur guilty of the one offense they deemed unpardonable, the crime of appropriating to himself something which might be converted into gold and shared amongst them all. Whilst still they hesitated, Blood added something to quicken their decision.

"If you will come to our anchorage, you shall receive at once your share of the booty of the Santiago, that you may dispose of it as you please."

They crossed the island, the two prisoners accompanying them, and later that day, the division made, they would have parted company but that Cahusac, at the instances of the men who had elected him Levasseur's successor, offered Captain Blood anew the services of that French contingent.

"If you will sail with me again," the Captain answered him, "you may do so on the condition that you make your peace with the Dutch, and restore the brig and her cargo."

The condition was accepted, and Captain Blood went off to find his guests, the children of the Governor of Tortuga.

Mademoiselle d'Ogeron and her brother—the latter now relieved of his bonds—sat in the great cabin of the Arabella, whither they had been conducted. He doffed his feather hat, and came forward to the table. "Mademoiselle," said he in his vile but fluent French, "I beg you to dismiss your fears. Aboard this ship you shall be treated with all honor. So soon as we are in case to put to sea again, we steer a course for Tortuga to take you home to your father. And pray do not consider that I have bought you. Count it, if you please, a friendly loan to be repaid entirely at your convenience."

Mademoiselle stared at him in unbelief. "Oh, you are noble!" Captain Blood sighed. For the whole truth, which he withheld from Mademoiselle d'Ogeron, was that in venturing his life to save her, he had been driven by the thought that the deed must be pleasing in the eyes of Miss Bishop could she but witness it.

GRAND DUKE CYRIL PROCLAIMS HIMSELF EMPEROR OF RUSSIA

London, Sept. 22.—The exalted duke, Cyril of Russia, has signed a proclamation declaring himself emperor of all Russia, according to a dispatch to the Daily Mail.

The proclamation was published Sunday in Belgrade and Russian newspapers.

Cyril explains that he is the cousin of the late czar and that in making such a step he is doing so upon advice of many Russian exiles, who, although they are on foreign soil, believe in an imperial throne.

He names his 7-year-old son, Vladimir, his heir to the throne.

The proclamation bitterly denounces the soviet rule and says he will devote himself to liberating Russia.

ELEVEN TRAINING CENTERS

Brainerd Trainees Took 50 Ribbons,
17 Firsts, 15 Seconds, 16 Thirds
for Individual Exhibits

The Agricultural Show, held at the Old Capitol Building Saint Paul, under auspices of the U. S. Veterans Bureau District No. 10, during the Legion National Convention was represented by eleven Training Centers some of whose exhibits were superior to county agricultural exhibits at the great Minnesota State Fair.

The training centers represented were Aitkin, Argonne Farms, Brainerd, Moose Lake, Mankato, Bemidji, Veteransville, Onamia, North Dakota, South Dakota and Montana.

The Brainerd trainees took 50 ribbons, 17 firsts, 15 seconds, 16 thirds, for individual exhibits. Virgil Taylor of Brainerd won the sweepstakes and a silver platter for the largest number of winnings on vegetables. John Bican of Browerville won the sweepstakes and a silver cup for the largest number of winnings on threshed grains.

Brainerd Cleans up on Muskmelons
Notwithstanding the fact that Brainerd is one of the northern training centers, Virgil Taylor of Brainerd won first and second and John Fleiger of Brainerd won third on muskmelons and John Fleiger also won second on watermelons.

And Brainerd trainees' wives did their bit by winning prizes on canned fruits and chicken.

There were about 200 entries from the Brainerd center which represented 100 per cent co-operation on the part of trainees and their instructors. J. I. Swedburg, C. G. Aamodt and R. C. Roth, to put over a winning exhibit.

Their exhibit had a background made up of a wonderful variety of grasses and grains and was fronted with an excellent collection of potatoes, ear corn, threshed grains and canned goods. Two large tables were completely covered with fruits and vegetables of all descriptions. Another large table contained two added features which also received considerable attention and comment by visitors. One being a reproduction on a miniature scale of the homestead of trainee Carl O. Peterson of Hackensack and the other an observation hive showing bees at work, displayed by trainee Leonard Swanson of Brainerd.

Brainerd Center Grows Largest Pumpkin

Trainee Mike Kardash of Little Falls entered a pumpkin weighing 52 1/2 lbs. which was the largest pumpkin shown.

Agricultural Experts Comment on Brainerd Display

A number of agricultural experts who visit state and county fairs spent considerable time at the Brainerd exhibit and pronounced the same second to none at the show.

Brainerd Trainees Sprung Surprise
The volume and quality of the exhibit from the distant Brainerd training center was not expected.

But the chances for the Brainerd trainees winning first place on their exhibit and the farm trophy which is a silver loving cup were handicapped by the fact, that after their entries were in place and their entire exhibit set up within the time limit, other exhibiting training centers rustled entries and elaborated on their settings.

A part of the entries by Brainerd trainees and prizes won by them will be displayed in Brainerd in the near future.

MISS BERNICE BENSON DIED

Daughter of Mrs. Augusta Benson

Passed Away at Family Home

Saturday

Miss Bernice Benson, daughter of Mrs. Augusta Benson, passed away at the family home, 915 Fir street, on Saturday evening, following an illness of nearly a year.

She was born at Ortonville on June 17th, 1907, and came to Brainerd with her parents several years ago. She attended the local schools and was in the high school when taken ill.

She is survived by her mother, five brothers and five sisters, Miss Selma, Lillian, Gladys, and Elvera Benson, of Brainerd, Mrs. Anna Johnson of Portland, Oregon, Oliver of Clinton, Minnesota, and Arthur, Chester, Stewart and Ernest, of Brainerd. Her father preceded her in death.

Bernice was a member of the Methodist church and belonged to the Campfire Girls organization of that church. She was always active in the work of the various departments of the church and Sunday school.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday afternoon, at 2:15 o'clock from the family home and 2:30 o'clock from the Methodist church, Rev. E. A. Cooke, officiating. The body may be viewed at the home on Tuesday until two o'clock on the afternoon of the funeral. Members of the Campfire Girls will act as honorary pallbearers.

Rev. P. G. Fallquist, of the Swedish Bethany church, will assist in the services on Tuesday.

STORM DAMAGE IN BRAINERD SECTION VETERAN CONDUCTOR P. J. CORCORAN DIED

Electric Light Shortage in City,
Telephone Lines Sustain
Damage

MANY HIGHWAYS IMPASSABLE

One Farmer Near Gull Lake Reports
All the Windows Blown Out of
His House

Sunday's wind and rain storm did considerable damage, throughout the country districts as well as in the city.

The rains made the highways nearly impassable and a number of automobiles are reported as going in to the ditch. The high wind blew down many trees, several being reported down in the city. The bus from Bemidji is said to have experienced a great deal of trouble in making its trip.

A farmer living near Gull lake states that the wind blew all of the windows out of his house. Hunters who intended to enjoy the evening shooting say that in many of the lakes the waves were rolling three, four and five feet high.

Brainerd, as usual, suffered from electric light shortage. Service was maintained in the downtown district but was curtailed in several of the residence sections. Several blocks on North Fourth street had no lights from four o'clock Sunday afternoon until eleven o'clock Monday morning, due to some local trouble.

Telephone lines suffered from the storm, especially in the country, where falling trees broke the wires. The wind broke a number of telephone poles, also. While there is property damage reported, there seems to have been no casualties from the storm.

The sky cleared before midnight, and a number of farmers report that there was a heavy frost during the night.

The 14-inch steel chimney at the blacksmith shop of the Northern Pacific shops was blown down by the wind. No other damage at the local shops is reported.

Trainmen on the Minnesota & International Railway state that there was snow near Walker and at Keliber, which melted as it fell late Sunday afternoon.

KAPPA DELPHIAN CHAPTER

General Theme of First Program is
"Achievements of Prehistoric Man
Making Civilization Possible"

The Kappa Delphian Chapter has tried out its first program. The general theme was, "The Achievements of Prehistoric Man Which Have Made Civilization Possible."

The "Text Reports" were carefully and thoughtfully prepared, only three minutes being allowed each speaker, and not once did Mrs. Newman find it necessary to call "time."

The originality of the members is already evident. The informal discussion of "primitive contributions" conducted by Miss Scott as leader, recalls the story of the young Polish girl who was asked to write the difference between an educated man and an intelligent man. She summed it up thus: "An educated man gets his thinks from some one else; an intelligent man works his own thinks." The Delphian movement is planned to make its members "intelligent folks" rather than just educated persons.

The current topics blend the old with the new and make it vivid that primitive man's discovery of fire, home-making and the use of nature's provisions for his comfort and preservation of life still mark the progress of mankind.

Mrs. Walter M. Murphy is leader for the next meeting.

The general theme: "A Civilization Developed Without Foreign Influence."

Wife, Formerly Miss Mamie McCarthy of Brainerd, Died Several Years Ago

FUNERAL AT WHITE BEAR

Conductor Corcoran Was One of
Oldest in Point of Service Working Out of St. Paul

Patrick J. Corcoran, veteran Northern Pacific conductor, and well known in Brainerd, passed away at the Northern Pacific hospital in St. Paul on Saturday morning, death following an operation for ulcers of the stomach.

Mr. Corcoran was sixty-eight years old at the time of his death. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Michael Fahy, of St. Paul. His wife, formerly Miss Mamie McCarthy of Brainerd, died several years ago.

Mr. Corcoran was one of the oldest, if not the oldest, conductor working out of St. Paul, and was well known and liked by the traveling public. He worked up to his last illness, with a remarkable record of long continuous service.

The funeral was held at White Bear on Monday morning, from St. Mary's of the Lake church, and interment made in the cemetery at that town. Those attending from Brainerd included Jay O'Brien, Miss Alice Smith, Kirk Smith, and Mrs. Mal Maclaren of Park Rapids, who motored to White Bear on Sunday.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

First Congregational Church Association Will Hold Thank-Offering Meeting

The Missionary society of the First Congregational church will hold its thank-offering meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. P. Slipp, 302 Juniper street. Mrs. Florence Lindstrom will be present and will speak upon Kobe College and China, also touching upon her personal work in Minnesota, as Field Secretary of Young Peoples Work, in which capacity she has served since her return from Bombay, India. All who heard Mrs. Lindstrom, last October, when she spoke upon different occasions in Brainerd, will remember her pleasing manner, her rich personality and her convincing message, relative to the upbuilding of humanity as carried on by missionary effort.

Not only members of the missionary society are urged to be present, but those of the church or affiliated with the church, and to such is extended an invitation and hearty welcome to be present.

Bring your offering and come. The offering will be credited to the W. B. M. I. society apportionment, which in its turn, will be reckoned in on the apportionment of the church proper.

Rummage Sale

The ladies aid of the First Congregational church will hold a rummage sale in the E. O. Webb building on Front street, on Tuesday, September 30th.

Coats For Little Women Styles Most Desirable

The woman who is not quite so tall as the average, demands a coat cut over an entirely different pattern from the one made for the taller woman. It must not merely be made shorter but if she appears well in it it must be of a different style too. Little women have a style all their own.

Our new styles for little women certainly have been admired. They are made of cloths which are luxurious—some delightfully pretty novelty cloths—and the furs are used so charmingly. Perhaps no size is so adapted to the simple trimmed straight line models as are these little women's coats.

You undoubtedly are aware of the advantages of an early selection—if you are not yet ready for the garment we will hang it aside for your convenience.

HOLDS PEDDLERS'

LAW INVALID

Judge W. S. McClenahan Passes on
New Ordinance of City Recently
Adopted

TEST CASE WAS BROUGHT

C. A. Ryan of Ryan & Ryan Appeared for Plaintiffs, 2 Minneapolis
Ex-Service Men

The power of City Ordinance No. 318 to restrict the licensing of peddlers to the sale of certain commodities, and to refuse a license for the sale of certain other commodities, was found to be invalid in a decision handed down by Judge W. M. McClenahan in chambers Saturday.

The test case was entitled W. J. Kenealey and Sam Blond against Con O'Brien and E. T. Fleener, in which the plaintiffs alleged that they brought a carload of pears, 24,000 pounds, from the state of Illinois to Brainerd for sale, after being duly inspected and passed by state authorities, on September 17th.

In accordance with Ordinance No. 318 of the city of Brainerd, the plaintiffs state that they applied to the city clerk for a license to sell these pears, and obtained blank forms which they presented to the mayor for his signature, which he refused for the reason that under the ordinance, no license could be issued to sell fruit to the consumer within the city.

The plaintiffs claimed that Ordinance No. 318, insofar as it attempts to exclude and prohibit the sale of fruit within the city, is unreasonable and void. The court issued a writ of mandamus, which was returned on Saturday, Sept. 20th. The defendants made no return or answer to the charges and did not appear. The court commanded the city clerk to issue licenses to sell these pears, said licenses to be for a period of two weeks.

Kenealey and Blond reside in Minneapolis, and for several years have engaged in the sale of fruit direct from the producer to the consumer, according to their complaint. Both are ex-service men.

C. A. Ryan, of M. E. & C. A. Ryan, was attorney for the plaintiffs.

BRAINERD CHORAL SOCIETY NOTES

The Brainerd Choral society meets tonight to determine whether it shall live another year or die with the passing of the day. Mr. Brown of Minneapolis, the director, invites all singers of the city to be present this evening. He really means all, for the meeting tonight will decide whether he is to continue or discontinue his weekly visits to the city of Brainerd. The invitation also includes all those who wish to study voice. Tonight is the night at 8 o'clock.

Made from fresh vegetables. Gives rich flavor, color and taste to soups, stews, gravies, sauces and baked meats.

Meatless Gravy

1 tablespoon Kitchen Bouquet; 1 small onion; 1 small carrot; 2 tablespoons butter; 1 bouillon cube; 1 cup boiling water, salt and pepper. Cut onion and carrot into thin slices and brown in the butter. Dissolve bouillon cube in boiling water, add to vegetables and simmer for five minutes. Strain, add Kitchen Bouquet and seasonings and use whenever a thin gravy is quickly needed. If desired thick, add one tablespoon flour to browned vegetable and stir a minute over the fire, then continue as directed.

Economical Stew

1 teaspoonful Kitchen Bouquet; 1 lb. beefsteak; 3 carrots; 2 raw potatoes; 1 qt. water; 2 tablespoonfuls rice; 2 tablespoonfuls butter; 1 tablespoonful flour. Melt butter and brown meat in this. When nicely browned, add flour and water. Cook from 3/4 to 1 hour before adding vegetables and rice. Vegetables should be diced. Season to taste and add Kitchen Bouquet. To be served with mashed potatoes.

Brown Gravy

Add to the pan in which meat was baked or roasted, one rounding tablespoonful of flour; rub to a smooth paste; add one cup of soup stock or boiling water; stir a moment and then place on the stove, stir until the sauce bubbles, add 1/4 teaspoonful of Kitchen Bouquet and season with salt and pepper to taste. Let it bubble up, and serve at once.

BRAINERD TRAINEES MAKE GOOD SHOWING

Give Mankato Trainees a Close Run
For the Farm Trophy at American Legion Exhibition

ELEVEN TRAINING CENTERS

Brainerd Trainees Took 50 Ribbons,
17 Firsts, 15 Seconds, 16 Thirds
for Individual Exhibits

The Agricultural Show, held at the Old Capitol Building Saint Paul, under auspices of the U. S. Veterans Bureau District No. 10, during the Legion National Convention was represented by eleven training centers some of whose exhibits were superior to county agricultural exhibits at the great Minnesota State Fair.

The training centers represented were Aitkin, Argonne Farms, Brainerd, Moose Lake, Mankato, Bemidji, Veteransville, Onamia, North Dakota, South Dakota and Montana.

The Brainerd trainees took 50 ribbons, 17 firsts, 15 seconds, 16 thirds, for individual exhibits. Virgil Taylor of Brainerd won the sweepstakes and a silver platter for the largest number of winnings on vegetables. John Bican of Browerville won the sweepstakes and a silver cup for the largest number of winnings on threshed grains.

Brainerd Cleans up on Muskmelons
Notwithstanding the fact that Brainerd is one of the northern training centers, Virgil Taylor of Brainerd won first and second and John Fleiger of Brainerd won third on muskmelons and John Fleiger also won second on watermelons.

And Brainerd trainees' wives did their bit by winning prizes on canned fruits and chicken.

There were about 200 entries from the Brainerd center which represented 100 per cent co-operation on the part of trainees and their instructors, J. I. Swedburg, C. G. Aamodt and R. C. Roth, to put over a winning exhibit.

Their exhibit had a background made up of a wonderful variety of grasses and grains and was fronted with an excellent collection of potatoes, ear corn, threshed grains and canned goods. Two large tables were completely covered with fruits and vegetables of all descriptions.

Another large table contained two added features which also received considerable attention and comment by visitors. One being a reproduction on a miniature scale of the homestead of trainee Carl O. Peterson of Hackensack and the other an observation hive showing bees at work, displayed by Trainee Leonard Swanson of Brainerd.

Brainerd Center Grows Largest Pumpkin

Trainee Mike Kardash of Little Falls entered a pumpkin weighing 52 1/2 lbs. which was the largest pumpkin shown.

Agricultural Experts Comment on Brainerd Display

A number of agricultural experts who visit state and county fairs spent considerable time at the Brainerd exhibit and pronounced the same second to none at the show.

MISS BERNICE BENSON DIED

Daughter of Mrs. Augusta Benson
Passed Away at Family Home
Saturday

Miss Bernice Benson, daughter of Mrs. Augusta Benson, passed away at the family home, 915 Fir street, on Saturday evening, following an illness of nearly a year.

She was born at Ortonville on June 17th, 1907, and came to Brainerd with her parents several years ago. She attended the local schools and was in the high school when taken ill.

She is survived by her mother, five brothers and five sisters, Miss Selma, Lillian, Gladys, and Elvera Benson, of Brainerd, Mrs. Anna Johnson of Portland, Oregon, Oliver of Clinton, Minnesota, and Arthur, Chester, Stewart and Ernest, of Brainerd. Her father preceded her in death.

Bernice was a member of the Methodist church and belonged to the Campfire Girls organization of that church. She was always active in the work of the various departments of the church and Sunday school.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday afternoon, at 2:15 o'clock from the family home and 2:30 o'clock from the Methodist church, Rev. E. A. Cooke, officiating. The body may be viewed at the home on Tuesday until two o'clock on the afternoon of the funeral. Members of the Campfire Girls will act as honorary pallbearers.

Rev. P. G. Fallquist, of the Swedish Bethany church, will assist in the services on Tuesday.

STORM DAMAGE IN BRAINERD SECTION

Electric Light Shortage in City.
Telephone Lines Sustain
Damage

MANY HIGHWAYS IMPASSABLE

One Farmer Near Gull Lake Reports
All the Windows Blown Out of
His House

Sunday's wind and rain storm did considerable damage, throughout the country districts as well as in the city.

The rains made the highways nearly impassable and a number of automobiles are reported as going into the ditch. The high wind blew down many trees, several being reported down in the city. The bus from Bemidji is said to have experienced a great deal of trouble in making its trip.

A farmer living near Gull Lake states that the wind blew all of the windows out of his house. Hunters who intended to enjoy the evening shooting say that in many of the lakes the waves were rolling three, four and five feet high.

Brainerd, as usual, suffered from electric light shortage. Service was maintained in the downtown district but was curtailed in several of the residence sections. Several blocks on North Fourth street had no lights from four o'clock Sunday afternoon until eleven o'clock Monday morning, due to some local trouble.

Telephone lines suffered from the storm, especially in the country, where falling trees broke the wires. The wind broke a number of telephone poles, also. While there is property damage reported, there seems to have been no casualties from the storm.

The sky cleared before midnight, and a number of farmers report that there was a heavy frost during the night.

The 14-inch steel chimney at the blacksmith shop of the Northern Pacific shops was blown down by the wind. No other damage at the local shops is reported.

Trainmen on the Minnesota & International Railway state that there was snow near Walker and at Kelliber, which melted as it fell late Sunday afternoon.

KAPPA DELPHIAN CHAPTER

General Theme of First Program is
"Achievements of Prehistoric Man
Making Civilization Possible"

The Kappa Delphian Chapter has tried out its first program. The general theme was, "The Achievements of Prehistoric Man Which Have Made Civilization Possible."

The 'Text Reports' were carefully and thoughtfully prepared, only three minutes being allowed each speaker, and not once did Mrs. Newman find it necessary to call 'time.'

The originality of the members is already evident. The informal discussion of 'primitive contributions' conducted by Miss Scott as leader, recalls the story of the young Polish girl who was asked to write the difference between an educated man and an intelligent man. She summed it up thus: "An educated man gets his thinks from some one else; an intelligent man works his own thinks." The Delphian movement is planned to make its members 'intelligent folks' rather than just educated persons.

The current topics blend the old with the new and make it vivid that primitive man's discovery of fire, home-making and the use of nature's provisions for his comfort and preservation of life still mark the progress of mankind.

Mrs. Walter M. Murphy is leader for the next meeting.

The general theme: "A Civilization Developed Without Foreign Influence."

CONCORDIA SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Reis and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterson Will Entertain This Evening

The Concordia society of the Bethlehem Lutheran church will meet this Monday evening at the church parlors at eight o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Reis and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterson will entertain.

Vocal solo.....Orva Jones
Piano solo.....Miss Eunice Paulson
Violin solo.....Miss Lorraine Morrison
Recitation.....Helen Marie Stadlbauer
Vocal solo.....A. C. Mraz

All members of the society are urged to be present and a cordial welcome will be extended to visitors.

VETERAN CONDUCTOR P. J. CORCORAN DIED

Wife, Formerly Miss Mamie McCarthy of Brainerd, Died Several Years Ago

FUNERAL AT WHITE BEAR

Conductor Corcoran Was One of
Oldest in Point of Service Working Out of St. Paul

Patrick J. Corcoran, veteran Northern Pacific conductor, and well known in Brainerd, passed away at the Northern Pacific hospital in St. Paul on Saturday morning, death following an operation for ulcers of the stomach.

Mr. Corcoran was sixty-eight years old at the time of his death. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Michael Fahcy, of St. Paul. His wife, formerly Miss Mamie McCarthy of Brainerd, died several years ago.

Mr. Corcoran was one of the oldest, if not the oldest, conductor working out of St. Paul, and was well known and liked by the traveling public. He worked up to his last illness, with a remarkable record of long continuous service.

The funeral was held at White Bear on Monday morning, from St. Mary's of the Lake church, and interment made in the cemetery at that town. Those attending from Brainerd included Jay O'Brien, Miss Alice Smith, Kirk Smith, and Mrs. Mal Maclaren of Park Rapids, who motored to White Bear on Sunday.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

First Congregational Church Association Will Hold Thank-Offering Meeting

The Missionary society of the First Congregational church will hold its thank-offering meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. P. Slipp, 302 Juniper street. Mrs. Florence Lindstrom will be present and will speak upon Kobe College and China, also touching upon her personal work in Minnesota, as Field Secretary of Young Peoples Work, in which capacity she has served since her return from Bombay, India. All who heard Mrs. Lindstrom, last October, when she spoke upon different occasions in Brainerd, will remember her pleasing manner, her rich personality and her convincing message, relative to the upbuilding of humanity as carried on by missionary effort.

Not only members of the missionary society are urged to be present, but those of the church or affiliated with the church, and to such is extended an invitation and hearty welcome to be present.

Bring your offering and come. The offering will be credited to the W. B. M. I. society apportionment, which in its turn, will be reckoned in on the apportionment of the church proper.

Rummage Sale

The ladies aid of the First Congregational church will hold a rummage sale in the E. O. Webb building on Front street, on Tuesday, September 30th.

Coats For Little Women Styles Most Desirable

The woman who is not quite so tall as the average, demands a coat cut over an entirely different pattern from the one made for the taller woman. It must not merely be made shorter but if she appears well in it it must be of a different style too. Little women have a style all their own.

Our new styles for little women certainly have been admired. They are made of cloths which are luxurious—some delightfully pretty novelty cloths—and the furs are used so charmingly. Perhaps no size is so adapted to the simple trimmed straight line models as are these little women's coats.

You undoubtedly are aware of the advantages of an early selection—if you are not yet ready for the garment we will hang it aside for your convenience.

HOLDS PEDDLERS'

LAW INVALID

Judge W. S. McClenahan Passes on
New Ordinance of City Recently
Adopted

TEST CASE WAS BROUGHT

C. A. Ryan of Ryan & Ryan Appeared for Plaintiffs, 2 Minneapolis
Ex-Service Men

The power of City Ordinance No. 318 to restrict the licensing of peddlers to the sale of certain commodities, and to refuse a license for the sale of certain other commodities, was found to be invalid in a decision handed down by Judge W. M. McClenahan in chambers Saturday.

The test case was entitled W. J. Kenealey and Sam Blond against Con O'Brien and E. T. Fleener, in which the plaintiffs alleged that they brought a carload of pears, 24,000 pounds, from the state of Illinois to Brainerd for sale, after being duly inspected and passed by state authorities, on September 17th.

In accordance with Ordinance No. 318 of the city of Brainerd, the plaintiffs state that they applied to the city clerk for a license to sell these pears, and obtained blank forms which they presented to the mayor for his signature, which he refused for the reason that under the ordinance, no license could be issued to sell fruit to the consumer within the city.

The plaintiffs claimed that Ordinance No. 318, insofar as it attempts to exclude and prohibit the sale of fruit within the city, is unreasonable and void. The court issued a writ of mandamus, which was returned on Saturday, Sept. 20th. The defendants made no return or answer to the charges and did not appear. The court commanded the city clerk to issue licenses to sell these pears, said licenses to be for a period of two weeks.

Kenealey and Blond reside in Minneapolis, and for several years have engaged in the sale of fruit direct from the producer to the consumer, according to their complaint. Both are ex-service men.

C. A. Ryan, of M. E. & C. A. Ryan, was attorney for the plaintiffs.

BRAINERD CHORAL SOCIETY NOTES

The Brainerd Choral society meets tonight to determine whether it shall live another year or die with the passing of the day. Mr. Brown of Minneapolis, the director, invites all singers of the city to be present this evening. He really means all, for the meeting tonight will decide whether he is to continue or discontinue his weekly visits to the city of Brainerd. The invitation also includes all those who wish to study voice. Tonight is the night at 8 o'clock.

For More Savory
Stews and Gravies

KITCHEN BOUQUET

Made from fresh vegetables. Gives rich flavor, color and taste to soups, stews, gravies, sauces and baked meats.

Meatless Gravy

1 tablespoon Kitchen Bouquet; 1 small onion; 1 small carrot; 2 table-spoons butter; 1 bouillon cube; 1 cup boiling water, salt and pepper. Cut onion and carrot into thin slices and brown in the butter. Dissolve bouillon cube in boiling water, add to vegetables and simmer for five minutes. Strain, add Kitchen Bouquet and seasonings and use whenever a thin gravy is quickly needed. If desired thick, add one tablespoon flour to browned vegetable and stir a minute over the fire, then continue as directed.

Economical Stew

1 teaspoonful Kitchen Bouquet; 1 lb. beefsteak; 3 carrots; 2 raw potatoes; 1 qt. water; 2 tablespoonfuls rice; 2 tablespoonfuls butter; 1 tablespoonful flour. Melt butter and brown meat in this. When nicely browned, add flour and water. Cook from 3/4 to 1 1/2 of an hour before adding vegetables and rice. Vegetables should be diced. Season to taste and add Kitchen Bouquet. To be served with mashed potatoes.

Brown Gravy

Add to the pan in which meat was baked or roasted, one rounding tablespoonful of flour, rub to a smooth paste; add one cup of soup stock or boiling water; stir a moment and then place on the stove, stir until the sauce bubbles, add 1/2 teaspoonful of Kitchen Bouquet and season with salt and pepper to taste. Let it bubble up, and serve at once.

SPECIAL OFFER: Send 10 cents for genuine Kitchen Bouquet across size trial bottle. Folder containing other recipes sent free on request.

PRINCE OF WALES IS A GOOD HORSEMAN

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 22.—If the Prince of Wales holds anything against the United States as a result of his visit it probably will be a slight resentment against the kidding he got from the paragraphers and cartoonists about his horsemanship. The Prince probably would prefer to be handed the bird about anything but his riding, as it is his ranking passion and his greatest hobby.

The Prince, very likely, does not resent the good natured jesting about the numerous times he has taken the trip from the saddle to the turf, but the British subjects of his royal highness do take exception to any wise cracks about his horsemanship.

The sentiment of his subjects was aptly put in words by one of the grooms attending the Prince's polo mounts at Meadowbrook. When asked why it was that the Prince fell of his mounts so many times, he replied with some emphasis: "His royal highness does not fall off them, he falls with them."

When the writer was in London in June, he learned that the Prince was not the poor horseman that reports from the other side would have it appear in this country. The young heir to the British throne never has been thrown from a polo pony, contrary to general belief in this country.

He is one of the most daring horsemen in England and he takes so many chances that at one time the public was on the verge of demanding that he confine his riding to the canter that the male members of the royal family take every morning in Hyde Park.

The Prince is of very slight build and only weighs about 130 pounds. He has been unseated many times riding the difficult steeplechase courses in England that are braved only by the gamest horsemen. He insists upon riding horses far out of proportion with his weight and dashes over courses that some of the professional jockeys in England do not care very much about.

GIANTS, PIRATES START CRUCIAL SERIES TODAY

New York, Sept. 22.—Brooklyn, by defeating Pittsburgh, 2 to 1, in 10 innings, while the Cubs shut out the Giants, 3 to 0, shuffled back into second place yesterday in the National league puzzle, which now finds the three leaders within one and one half contests. The Robins trail the Pirates by one game.

Tigers Win Three

In the American league Detroit took its third straight from the Yankees, 4 to 3, and permitted Washington, which defeated St. Louis, 6 to 4, to attain a two game lead over the Yankees. The Senators now can win the pennant by taking only six of their seven games, even if the world's champions win all of their games.

The National league title hinges on the three game series which begins here today between Pittsburgh and New York. Pittsburgh by taking three from New York could clinch the flag by winning their five contests remaining after that series regardless of what New York or Brooklyn does, since McKechnie's team has three more games to play than Brooklyn and two more than the Giants.

EIGHT HEAVY GAMES ON STILLWATER CARD

Stillwater, Sept. 22.—Stillwater high school's football team looks as though it will be one of the best that has represented this city in several years.

With but one exception every man is a veteran and there are a number of very capable substitutes.

Coach Ebert is enthused over the outlook.

The team faces a severe schedule of eight games as follows: Sept. 27, Hudson at Stillwater; Oct. 4, Northfield at Stillwater; Oct. 10, St. Cloud at Stillwater; Oct. 17, Stillwater at White Bear; Oct. 24, Stillwater at Winona; Oct. 31, Hastings at Stillwater; Nov. 8, Stillwater at Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Nov. 11, Humboldt at Stillwater.

TY COBB THINKS THE TIGERS WILL BE 3RD

CLAIMED HE NEVER SAID THEY WOULD WIN THE FLAG

By TY COBB.

Manager of the Detroit Tigers.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 22.—I'll make just one guess now, and I'll bet that guess is right. The Detroit Tigers will finish third in the American league pennant race.

I never said we would win the flag but I had hoped that we would go over. I had intended to devote more of my time to the managing end this year, and with a good young ball club I figured I would not have to play as much.

Injuries to players as we entered the stretch certainly hurt our chance for the pennant this year. Right at the most critical part of the season we lost Lu Blue, and I don't have to tell anyone who follows baseball and knows Blue's game what it meant to lose the services of such a good first baseman. However, I have no complaint about that, because I have been in baseball long enough to know that a manager and a club must accept the bad breaks with the good ones.

Some of my young pitchers didn't come through as I had hoped they might.

While we may be disappointed by failing to win the championship this year, we know that the season has not been wasted. The team is all young. The seasoning the young stars got in such a hard fight undoubtedly will help us for the going next year. I'm going to play again next year and try for another 200 hits if necessary to bring the flag to Detroit.

Both Huggins and Harris have my best wishes.—St. Paul Daily News.

ROMERO HURT HIS HAND ON FARMER LODGE IN MEMPHIS

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, Sept. 22.—The Fred Fulton-Quintin Romero fight scheduled for the Armory Friday night was called off today by Billy B. Hoke, promoter. Romero hurt his hand on Farmer Lodge in Memphis and was unable to appear here, Hoke was advised. A substitute was not available on short notice so the show was cancelled.

AMUSEMENTS

Witness Describes Real Shooting of Dan McGrew

The real story of the shooting of Dan McGrew! The true incidents that led up to the killing made famous by Robert W. Service in poetry were revealed by "Doc" Sugden, physician and explorer, just before his recent death, when he got back to civilization after an absence of many years in Alaska.

Sugden was among those who "ducked their heads when the lights went out and two guns blazed in the dark" in the Alaskan saloon where the murder occurred that Robert W. Service immortalized in his "The Spell of the Yukon." It was from Sugden, in fact, that the writer first heard the story of the tragedy, and from whom he received the inspiration for the best-known poem in America. Showing at the New Park tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday.

"A Girl of the Limerlost"

The screen version of Gene Stratton-Porter's famous novel, "A Girl of the Limerlost," the feature attraction now showing at the Lyceum Theatre, is certain to please all who see it. Especially those who have read the book, for Elvora seems to step from the printed pages onto the screen in a good, wholesome, tender love story.

The story of "A Girl of the Limerlost" is that of a young girl and her struggle for an education in spite of the opposition of her mother and her distorted hatred of the child because of a consuming and misplaced love for an erring husband who met a terrible death on the night the baby girl was born. The love affair of the girl and the victory of her sweet and loving nature over the jealous opposition of her school companions is simply and interestingly told.

"A Girl of the Limerlost" is one of the sort of pictures that fall into the worth-while class. It will remain at the Lyceum today and Tuesday.

COMB SAGE TEA IN

HAIR TO DARKEN IT

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

WHEN KIDNEYS HURT

DRINK MORE WATER

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

WORLD BALL SERIES PLANNED TO START SATURDAY, OCT. 4

New York, Sept. 22.—The world's series will open on Saturday, Oct. 4, in the American league city winning the pennant unless a tie in either league necessitates a playoff. This was definitely decided today at a meeting of the club owners of the five leading teams with Commissioner K. M. Landis.

The first, second and sixth games will be played in the American league city and the third, fourth and fifth in the National league city. Games will be played on consecutive days, the teams traveling at night. If a seventh game is necessary the owners of the two contending teams will meet and toss a coin to determine in which city the deciding contest will be held.

All world's series games will start at 2 o'clock eastern standard time.

WIENER ROAST AT COUNTRY CLUB

Country club members are invited to attend the wiener roast at the club tomorrow evening from 5 to 6 o'clock. There will be play in the afternoon.

Crosby, Sept. 22.—Staples high school defeated Crosby-Ironton high school in football, 15 to 9, here Saturday.

Peterborough Examiner, has this to say: "Bringing Up Father" invariably causes gales of laughter whenever it appears. The Sarnia Observer says: "Bringing Up Father" surprised Sarnia theatregoers—it made them sit up and laugh, the show was a superior one, with a clever presenting company. It left a better impression than any cartoon show to appear here."

EIGHT HEAVY GAMES ON STILLWATER CARD

Stillwater, Sept. 22.—Stillwater high school's football team looks as though it will be one of the best that has represented this city in several years. With but one exception every man is a veteran and there are a number of very capable substitutes.

Coach Ebert is enthused over the outlook.

The team faces a severe schedule of eight games as follows: Sept. 27, Hudson at Stillwater; Oct. 4, Northfield at Stillwater; Oct. 10, St. Cloud at Stillwater; Oct. 17, Stillwater at White Bear; Oct. 24, Stillwater at Winona; Oct. 31, Hastings at Stillwater; Nov. 8, Stillwater at Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Nov. 11, Humboldt at Stillwater.

TY COBB THINKS THE TIGERS WILL BE 3RD

CLAIMED HE NEVER SAID THEY WOULD WIN THE FLAG

By TY COBB,

Manager of the Detroit Tigers.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 22.—I'll make just one guess now, and I'll bet that guess is right. The Detroit Tigers will finish third in the American league pennant race.

I never said we would win the flag but I had hoped that we would go over. I had intended to devote more of my time to the managing end this year, and with a good young ball club I figured I would not have to play as much.

Injuries to players as we entered the stretch certainly hurt our chance for the pennant this year. Right at the most critical part of the season we lost Lu Blue, and I don't have to tell anyone who follows baseball and knows Blue's game what it meant to lose the services of such a good first baseman. However, I have no complaint about that, because I have been in baseball long enough to know that a manager and a club must accept the bad breaks with the good ones.

Some of my young pitchers didn't come through as I had hoped they might.

While we may be disappointed by failing to win the championship this year, we know that the season has not been wasted. The team is all young. The seasoning the young stars got in such a hard fight undoubtedly will help us for the going next year. I'm going to play again next year and try for another 200 hits if necessary to bring the flag to Detroit.

Both Huggins and Harris have my best wishes.—St. Paul Daily News.

FULTON-ROMERO FIGHT POSTPONED

ROMERO HURT HIS HAND ON FARMER LODGE IN MEMPHIS

(By United Press)

Minneapolis, Sept. 22.—The Fred Fulton-Quintin Romero fight scheduled for the Armory Friday night was called off today by Billy B. Hoke, promoter. Romero hurt his hand on Farmer Lodge in Memphis and was unable to appear here, Hoke was advised. A substitute was not available on short notice so the show was cancelled.

AMUSEMENTS

Witness Describes Real Shooting of Dan McGrew

The real story of the shooting of Dan McGrew! The true incidents that led up to the killing made famous by Robert W. Service in poetry were revealed by "Doc" Sugden, physician and explorer, just before his recent death, when he got back to civilization after an absence of many years in Alaska.

Sugden was among those who "ducked their heads when the lights went out and two guns blazed in the dark" in the Alaskan saloon where the murder occurred that Robert W. Service immortalized in his "The Spell of the Yukon." It was from Sugden, in fact, that the writer first heard the story of the tragedy, and from whom he received the inspiration for the best-known poem in America. Showing at the New Park tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday.

"A Girl of the Limberlost"

The screen version of Gene Stratton-Porter's famous novel, "A Girl of the Limberlost," the feature attraction now showing at the Lyceum Theatre, is certain to please all who see it. Especially those who have read the book, for Elmore seems to step from the printed pages onto the screen in a good, wholesome, tender love story.

The story of "A Girl of the Limberlost" is that of a young girl and her struggle for an education in spite of the opposition of her mother and her distorted hatred of the child because of a consuming and misplaced love for an erring husband who met a terrible death on the night the baby girl was born. The love affair of the girl and the victory of her sweet and loving nature over the jealous opposition of her school companions is simply and interestingly told.

"A Girl of the Limberlost" is one of the sort of pictures that fall into the worth-while class. It will remain at the Lyceum today and Tuesday.

Some Chorus With "Bringing Up Father in Ireland" at New Park Monday, September 29

The popularity of "Bringing Up Father," the now famous cartoon creation by George McManus, is not confined to the United States. Canada expresses its views of the attraction in very pointed fashion. The Peterborough Examiner, has this to say: "Bringing Up Father" invariably causes gales of laughter whenever it appears. The Sarnia Observer says: "Bringing Up Father" surprised Sarnia theatregoers—it made them sit up and laugh, the show was a superior one, with a clever presenting company. It left a better impression than any cartoon show to appear here."

London Press on "Bringing Up Father." A fine production, the company was excellent—the wit snappy—handsomely staged, pleasing light effects, charming chorus, well gowned."

It comes to the New Park Theatre Monday, Sept. 29th, for an engagement of one night. Secure seats now for grandma and the children—as well as the grown-up folks.

WHEN KIDNEYS HURT DRINK MORE WATER

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.
